Troop Services Sought Again

OTTAWA, Nov. 20 (CP).—In one final stand, opposition parties today renewed a demand that the government provide auxiliary services for the troops in Korea and at least see that they get Canadian cigarettes.

Members in the three opposing parties campaigned again in the Commons on that issue as the chamber gave third and final reading to a government bill making technical amendments to various statutes affecting the armed forces.

Ralph Campney, parliamentary assistant to Defense Minister Brooke Claxton, said he could not usefully add anything to what Mr. Claxton already has said that the terrain and weather conditions of Korea make auxiliary services unfeasible.

The chamber also adopted a bill setting out the status of North Atlantic treaty forces when they are in other lands.

It gave second reading approval of principle to a measure which would permit the banks to operate a five-day week.

Red Truce Delegates Offer Cease-Fire Plan

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 21 (Wednesday) (AP).—Communist truce negotiators at Panmunjom today presented their own cease-fire plan for a Korean armistice within 30 days.

An official United Nations command spokesman said that, although on the surface the Red plan appeared similar to the Allied proposal of last week, "there are unmistakable traces of fundamental differences."

The Allied and Red negotiators met for two hours today. They scheduled another meeting for 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. Wednesday, EST).

Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodes, senior U.N. command sub-committee-man, told reporters:

"We are going back and see what changes we have to make in this (the Communist proposal) to bring it into line with ours."

His reaction seemed to indicate a possible compromise somewhere between the Red and Allied proposals.

The Reds submitted their plan after a two-day recess which they had requested Monday to give the U.N. plan "more mature consideration."

In essence, the Allied truce formula called for: 1, hostilities until the full armistice is signed; 2, the present battle line as basis for a provisional buffer zone; 3, the provisional buffer zone to become permanent if full agreement is reached on other armistice issues within 30 days; 4, a new provisional line if the 30-day deadline is not met.

Both the Chinese and North Korean radios opened up with hot blasts at the U.N. command shortly after the Monday meeting ended.

Slain Troops Estimate Moving Up

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (Wednesday) (AP).—General headquarters said yesterday there was "considerable evidence" that approximately 6,000 United States soldiers captured by the Communists were victims of "death by atrocity."

The statement from Gen. Matthew Ridgway's headquarters emphasized, however, that "there is no conclusive proof as to the number of dead" among the 10,836 Americans still missing.

The estimate was 500 higher than that made last week by Col. James Hanley, chief of the Eighth Army's war crimes section.

Both the Chinese Communist and the North Korean radios denied Hanley's charge. The Communists in turn accused the United Nations command of killing or starving to death 17,000 Red prisoners.

Hanley apparently anticipated this. His report declared that all Red prisoners were well-cared for in accordance with the Geneva Convention governing treatment of prisoners of war.

Home-Made Set Used in Crime

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 20 (AP).—Two men used a home-made wireless talking outfit to burglarize the Elkhart High School building of a wire recording set, police said today.

Charges of grand larceny were filed against Richard A. Hoadley, 20, Elkhart, and Keith Dunlap, 19, Osceola, after police said they admitted the theft.

Here is an account given by officers:

Hoadley hid in a school room after a band concert Friday night. About midnight he was contacted by Dunlap, who had a wireless talking set in their car parked near the building.

Hoadley radioed back that the coast was clear and for Dunlap to drive the car to the front of the building. Hoadley then ran out with the recorder.

Allies Regain Lost Ground

EIGHTH ARMY H.Q., Korea, Nov. 21 (Wednesday) (INS).—United Nations forces in western Korea were driven from their positions by a communist night attack but wrested the ground back from the Reds with a pre-dawn counterattack Tuesday.

Across the peninsula on the eastern front Allied infantrymen made gains of nearly a half-mile in the punchbowl area, east of famed Heartbreak Ridge.

Key Defense Position Given Canadian Troops

THE HAGUE, Nov. 20 (CP).—Defense Minister Brooke Claxton announced tonight Canada is planning to erect permanent quarters for her 27th Brigade in the Soest area of Western Germany—a move which would put a garrison in that key area for any allied defense stand east of the Rhine.

It also is expected to place the Canadians in their traditional position between the British and Americans but still under British command in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic pact army.

In a talk with reporters aboard an R.C.A.F. plane which took him on a three-stop flight around Western Europe, the minister said the barracks will be built by Germans, the work to be completed late next year.

It is Canada's hope that a way can be found to prevent the Canadian government from becoming a landowner in Germany, that is, that this would become part of her contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization without remaining Canadian property. It is expected to cost between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Claxton flew into The Hague tonight for tomorrow's ceremony in which he will turn over the brigade to Eisenhower's command after a parade of more than 1,000 Canadians through Rotterdam. The troops are due late tonight by ship.

S.R.O. Sign Hung Out

No—these people are not trying to get into the hockey game at the Memorial Arena. They are part of the crowd turned away last night at the first night sitting of city council. More than 250 people jammed into the chambers and many more were turned away because of fire regulations.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

London Values Continue Dive

LONDON, Nov. 20 (Reuters).—The London Stock Exchange's post-election slump continued today when another £125,000,000 was knocked off values.

Total losses since the Stock Exchange was granted its heart-felt wish for the return of a Conservative government, October 25, now amount to nearly £1,400,000,000.

Fear of drastic economy measures led to the slump.

After the official close, British Government securities (gilt edged) turned appreciably harder. There were indications that the storm in gilt-edged is blowing itself out.

The improvement may not have come in time to save next Thursday's issue of £14,000,000 of debentures for the great Lever Brothers soap combine, however.

Some of the selling of gilt-edged issues Monday and today appeared to be by underwriters who expected to be left with large blocks of the Lever issue.

Outlook for several other sectors was still stormy. Deflation is good for gilt-edged and gold shares, but not for other sectors, including industry.

In the era of easy money and easy profits, industries could afford to hang on to under-employed labor and any materials they could get, since anything seemed better than money.

Now things look different. Worried about their cash position and markets, some textile and other industrialists are reported releasing such hoarded resources.

Two Quit; Now Eight On Council

There are now eight aldermen on the Victoria city council. Following last night's meeting, two of them are now just plain Mr. Aubrey Kent and Dr. J. D. Hunter.

Resignations of the two veteran aldermen were accepted by the council last night. Mr. Kent and Mr. Hunter are both candidates in the coming mayoralty elections.

During discussion, Mayor Percy George disclosed that the by-election this year, caused by the resignation of Ald. Mrs. Hilda Hunter, did not cost the city a cent.

He said there had been some complaints that the city was put to needless expense.

The mayor would not say who paid the $491 bill for the by-election.

Both Mr. Kent and Mr. Hunter paid tribute to Mayor George's "courtesy, co-operation and help" as well as his high standards and fairness.

Plane Hunted In Far North

EDMONTON, Nov. 20 (CP).—An R.C.A.F. search plane tonight left Whitehorse, Y.T., after an S.O.S. was received from a commercial plane which reported it made a forced landing in the Bathurst Inlet area near the Arctic Circle.

The R.C.A.F. reported the S.O.S. said all three unnamed occupants of the plane, owned by Associated Airways of Edmonton, escaped injury but did not say whether the plane was damaged.

Civic Referendum Will Settle Issue Of Council's Size

Progressive Reduction Proposal To Leave Eight Aldermen by 1954

By RAY BAINES

Victoria probably will have an eight-man city council by the beginning of 1954.

An amendment by Ald. William Pinfold to Ald. Robert Macmillan's motion for an immediate referendum on the reduction of council passed unanimously at last night's council meeting.

The amendment called for a progressive reduction of the council's size within the legal requirements of the Municipal Act. The amendment, as later explained by City Solicitor Arthur Patton, calls for election of four aldermen in 1952 and four in 1953. The necessary by-law to effect the reduction will be put to the electors in the forthcoming civic elections.

Ald. Macmillan's motion would have called for a referendum asking the voters if they favored the reduction of council to eight members. If the proposed by-law is passed, on the other hand, the public would be giving assent to a definite plan to reduce the council.

Despite the fact that several aldermen spoke against the general principle of reducing the size of council, after an explanation of the amendment by Mr. Patton, it passed unanimously.

"I really think you've convinced me," said Ald. Aubrey Kent, who had earlier called the amendment mere "pussyfooting." He asked at that time that the public be simply asked by referendum if they favored reducing the council to eight.

MOONEY OPPOSED

Ald. Millard Mooney spoke against the principle of cutting the council and asked for "one good reason" why it was necessary.

His assertion that the city could actually do with 12 men on the council brought boos from a large crowd assembled for the night meeting.

Ald. Arthur Dowell opposed the question being brought up at this time.

"It has been made just a political issue before elections," he said during an address.

In supporting the idea, Ald. Waldo Skillings (who gave Ald. Macmillan his only supporting vote on a similar motion at the last council meeting) thought that much of the work could be left to department heads.

"Aldermen have a lot of work to do," he said, "but much of it could be left to competent, I repeat 'competent' department heads. We'll know more about that, too, very soon."

Ald. Percy Scurrah said he would support the amendment, but blamed much wasted time not on the number of aldermen but on the Municipal Act, by which "the city manager is hamstrung because every expenditure over $50 must come to council."

"The point is not expense, the cost is infinitismal, but what size council is going to give the best civic government," said Ald. Scurrah.

Ald. Macmillan insisted that the amendment would be "pulling the wool over the public's eyes," and Ald. Skillings wanted to know why the reduction could not be done in one step.

During Mr. Patton's explanation of the intricacies of the Municipal Act, several persons in the crowd groaned their disapproval of the lengthy process needed to reduce council.

Mayor Percy George warned them that he would have them ejected if they did not keep order.

Test of Night Meetings Proves Roaring Success

If city officials had charged admission to the council chamber last night, they could have made a good beginning on a new Point Ellice bridge.

Ald. Robert Macmillan's challenge that night meetings would bring out the voters to see the council in action was substantiated beyond hope. More than 250 eager citizens jammed into the small council chamber and dozens more were turned away. The capacity of the room is supposed to be 150. A police man was stationed at the door to control the crowd.

And the citizens ate it up. Most stayed through the three-hour meeting to the bitter end and at times drew warnings from Mayor Percy George for their audible reactions.

During a speech by Ald. Millard Mooney opposing the reduction of council, a man shouted from the back of the room and was threatened with expulsion.

Thunderous applause for one of Ald. Waldo Skillings' addresses on the question of a margarine referendum drew a similar warning.

"I shall have to clear these chambers if you do that again," said Mayor George.

One woman, said to be an American citizen, stomped loudly out of the room when Ald. Mooney referred to corruption in city councils "below the line."

Every seat was filled and the three walls were jammed solidly with people. The policeman had difficulty keeping the door cleared in accordance with fire regulations.

At the opening of the meeting Mayor George welcomed the crowd and expressed hope that the meeting would be "inspirational and educational."

Red "Helpers" In Italy Fired

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 20 (AP).—A red-sponsored emergency committee at Rovigo, in the heart of the flooded Po delta, was dissolved by official order tonight on charges of hindering relief work and creating confusion.

The action was taken by the Rovigo Prefect, an official representing Premier Alcide de Gasperi's government, as new rains in northwest Italy spilled rivers and lakes over their banks and fed upper tributaries of the Po.

Specifically the prefect charged the committee with sending rescue units where help was not needed.

About 100 persons have perished and thousands have been made homeless by the flooding of the Po, Italy's mightiest river.

Greeks Sure Of Strength

PARIS, Nov. 20 (AP).—Greece proposed today the abolition of the United Nations' special committee on the Balkans, set up nearly six years ago because of Communist threats against her.

Jean Politis, Greek delegate in the U.N. assembly's special political committee, said the Greek people had so expanded their possibilities of resisting Communism that a recurrence of subversive activities appeared "less and less probable."

Old Mortar Bomb Blamed for Injuries; Three Boys Lucky to Have Survived Blast

Three young William Head boys are lucky to be alive following the explosion of a two-inch mortar bomb last Saturday, R.C.M.P. disclosed yesterday.

One of them, 13-year-old Victor Rowe, is lying in the children's ward at St. Joseph's Hospital with a badly mangled right hand which was nearly blown off in the explosion.

Lucky to be alive but suffering severe pain in St. Joseph's Hospital is Victor Rowe, 13, of William Head. His right hand was badly mangled by an exploding two-inch army mortar bomb last Saturday.—Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

First reports indicated the explosion was caused by a dynamite cap. R.C.M.P. officials said last night it has definitely been established the explosion was caused by a bomb.

Uninjured were Victor's seven-year-old brother, Gordon, and another playmate, Roland Sudbies, all from William Head.

Police investigation disclosed the bomb was salvaged from Haystack Island near Albert Head in 1946 by G. Y. Osborne, William Head, a neighbor of the Rowes.

The island was used as an army firing range during the last war.

The lethal bomb was thought to be a dud. It was being used as a gate stop when discovered by the boys.

Police questioned the youngsters and found they threw the bomb to the ground "three or four times" and nothing happened.

Then one of the boys heaved the missile at a rock. It exploded with a roar and the tail fins flew back and caught young Victor in the hand.

He was rushed to hospital and underwent surgery by Dr. G. M. Paul in an effort to save the hand.

Victor Rowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rowe of William Head.

Police say the only thing that saved the three youths from death was deterioration of the bomb over the years.

Saddened by the incident but powerless to help unless parents co-operate, both army officials and R.C.M.P. have asked that any such military explosives be reported to them at once.

Officials from Work Point Barracks point out that there are probably many wartime souvenirs still in homes today that are "extremely dangerous" and should be destroyed or rendered harmless.

New Post Soon For Mainguy

HALIFAX, Nov. 20 (CP).—Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, flag officer Atlantic Coast for the last three years, will leave Friday for Ottawa to take over duties as Chief of Naval Staff December 1 with the rank of vice-admiral. He will be succeeded by Rear Admiral Roger E. S. Bidwell, 52-year-old native of Peterborough, Ont., who has been commodore at H.M.C.S. Naden at Esquimalt, B.C., since last August.

Immigration, Medical Authorities Turn Beady Eye on Naval Impostor

OTTAWA, Nov. 20 (CP).—The perpetrator of a spectacular naval hoax has come under the eye of immigration authorities.

Immigration officials said today they have opened a detailed investigation into the status of Ferdinand Waldo Demara, Jr., who joined the Canadian Navy last March under the assumed name of Dr. Joseph Cyr.

Officials are not too sure just how the mysterious 29-year-old American got into Canada. If it is found that he has no legal status in this country he will be shipped back to the United States.

The navy, still astounded by the daring misrepresentation of the one-time American Navy pharmacist's mate, will close the book with a dishonorable discharge within a few days.

Demara, formerly of Lawrence, Mass., is now at H.M.C.S. Naden, Esquimalt. A navy board of inquiry has found him guilty of fraudulent entry.

The former surgeon-lieutenant, credited with having performed brilliant operations, will be allowed to take his naval uniform with him when he is discharged. It is his property, but he will be prosecuted if he wears it.

Money which he paid into the navy's pension fund will be returned to him. He is entitled to transportation back to Saint John, N.B., but the navy doubts that he will want that. It would bring him much closer to the man he impersonated, Dr. Joseph Cyr of Edmundston, N.B., now practicing in Grand Falls, N.B.

Just why he decided to join the navy under the assumed name remains a mystery. He is keeping mum.

At Victoria, a high-ranking naval officer said Demara has not divulged the reason for his action, and it wasn't within the scope of the inquiry to ask him.

HALIFAX, Nov. 20 (CP).—Ferdinand Waldo Demara, Jr., alias Dr. Joseph Cyr, is registered for practice in Nova Scotia, Dr. H. L. Scammell, secretary of the provincial medical board, said tonight.

"He secured his registration in the province of Nova Scotia on the credentials of another man," said Dr. Scammell. The other man was Dr. Joseph Cyr of Edmundston, N.B., now practicing at Grand Falls, N.B.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

Nearly 2,000 makes of cars which once traveled North American roads have vanished into the limbo of dead machines. Admittedly they have not vanished in [illegible] horsepower shay. Some of them are still coughing and putting around. Others are embalmed in museums and private collections. However, they are no longer made.

Hundreds of little car companies that flourished in the early years of the century have packed their tools and faded away, leaving a dozen automotive giants in possession of the field. The car industry 30 and 40 years ago was in the position of the trailer industry now. It lacked the benefits of cheap mass-production, but it also lacked the evils of semi-monopoly and price-fixing.

Recently someone brought me a copy of "Auto-Biography," a catalogue of passenger cars manufactured since the start of the automobile industry. It lists 1,775 gasoline and steam passenger cars, 47 electric vehicles and 35 cycle-cars which have been manufactured or still are being manufactured in the United States; and 123 "foreign make automobiles," dead and alive.

* * *

Some of the vanished cars fell victim to ordinary business hazards, but I think others were defeated by the names their makers bestowed upon them.

In 1909 someone made a car called the "Dodo." The car, like the bird from which it drew its name, is now extinct. It's life span was one year.

The "Sonnesteyd" also died in the year of its birth 1894, probably because no customer could pronounce its name.

Yet if the cars with the odd names had survived, they would probably sound ordinary enough now, through usage. The "Geronimo," made only in 1918, is no longer with us, but the Pontiac which was also named after an Indian chief, is going strong.

The "Greely," 1903, went west for no discernible reason. Lincoln survived, but "Washington" did not. Neither did the "Napoleon," which was in production from 1916 to 1919. For some reason, "Napoleon" sounds dated.

Wild life was well represented. Beside the "Dodo" there were the "Bird," "Fish," "Buffalo," "Badger," "Black Crow," "Colt," "Eagle," "Fox," "Lion," "Wasp," "Wolf," "Wolverine," "Beaver," "Bee," "Elk," "Greyhound" and "Whippet." In the heavenly division were cars called "Sun," "Moon" and "Star." Their lights have all gone out.

Several cab companies made their own cars for a time. Special companies turned out milk delivery cars and hearses. Passenger cars have been made by sewing machine companies, farm machine companies, wagon, buggy and tricycle companies. I wonder why some firms stopped making passenger cars but kept making trucks, fire engines, or buses.

Some car names signify the kind of machinery used: "Kerosene Surrey," Gas-au-lec," "Frontmobile," "Gearless," "Pneumobile" "Four-wheel Drive." Others were simply odd, hopeful or pathetic: "Best," "Buzmobile," "Silent Knight," "Little," "Fan," "Jr." "Electrobat," "Long Distance," "Zip," "Auto-go," and the frankly named "Crock." "Dagmar" may have been noted for strong frontal development. Tops for simplicity were "Smith" and "Motorcar."

Salmon Arm School Board Group Explains Position

The "untenable" position of the Salmon Arm school board was explained yesterday to the provincial cabinet.

A delegation of five met the cabinet for a 45-minute session, still smarting under a verbal lashing given them Monday by Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran in Vancouver appeal court.

The delegates refused to discuss their meeting with the [illegible] ment would be issued after they have talked the matter over with the rest of their school board.

Mrs. E. L. Carter, vice-chairman of the board, said the delegates outlined to the cabinet "the untenable position in which we are placed by this writ of mandamus."

She referred to Mr. Justice O'Halloran's action in ordering the school board to reopen its school to 510 children of residents of the District Municipality of Salmon Arm, which surrounds the city of Salmon Arm.

The board had refused to provide teachers and classrooms for the district children, although it continued to educate children of the city and nearby unorganized territory.

Mrs. Carter said the board "has no funds to open the school" to the district children.

Asked to clarify the situation, E. Max Ladner, chairman of the school board's finance committee and spokesman for the delegation, said:

"How would you like to sit on a keg of dynamite with five fuses going, wondering which one to step on first?"

Asked what the delegation had asked the cabinet for, he replied, "Anything we can get."

CLOSED TO CHILDREN

The Salmon Arm school was closed to district children Oct. 1 because of a dispute over education costs.

The school board originally estimated its 1951-52 expenses at $58,000.

The city and the district claimed inability to pay their share, and an arbitration board cut the school board estimates to $42,000. The school board insisted that wasn't enough. It stuck to its $58,000 figure.

The city, meanwhile, had based its tax rate on the board's highest figure, and so had the money to pay its share of the $58,000. The unorganized territory's full share was paid by the province.

But the district municipality had struck its mill rate on the $42,000 estimate and couldn't raise any more money.

After one month of the current school year, district children were barred from the school.

A district resident's application for a writ of mandamus to force the school board to admit children was dismissed in lower court.

The resident's appeal was upheld Monday by Mr. Justice O'Halloran, who said in his judgment:

"The school board has failed to satisfy me that it was in fact impossible to comply with the arbitration award . . .

"It never did make a bona fide effort to reduce expenditures . . . In effect, convinced that the arbitration board was wrong, the school board obdurately pursued its own course.

"People in public life ought to resign if they find no way left to carry out their statutory duties. They subject themselves to censure, facile public opprobrium and legal action if, in such circumstances, they attempt to evade or pervert the statute . . .

Putnam to Head Parley on Weeds

N. F. Putnam, field crops commissioner, will be chairman of the weed control conference to be held in Vancouver Nov. 27 and 28. Other Victorians also attending the conference, which includes the four western provinces, are C. H. Nelson, M. M. Gilchrist, of the department of agriculture, J. J. Woods, superintendent of the Experimental Station, Saanichton, and R. M. Adamson and R. H. Turley, both of the station.

F. L. Timmins, of Utah, weed research officer, will be guest speaker at the conference.

A meeting of the National Weed Committee, western section, will follow the conference on Nov. 29.

Vancouver Seeking Job Solution

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20 (CP)— The city council today wrestled with the problem of "imported labor."

Vancouver—similar to the rough winter of 1949—has brought council action.

First, the federal government will be asked to explain its immigration policy. Then, an investigation into the effect of the policy on the job market here will be made.

Mainly from European countries, 9,619 immigrants have come to British Columbia so far this year. Other hundreds are slated to come.

Recently, 200-odd German immigrants reached Vancouver. Most of them are still jobless, waiting for jobs to develop on northern projects.

"Things are getting tough in Vancouver, no fooling," Mayor Fred Hume told council.

"I have as many as 10 people in every day looking for work, and I don't know where to send them."

On Oct. 25 there were 12,604 persons registered with the National Employment Service in Vancouver and only 1,025 unfilled jobs.

COMMITTEE PLANNED

Council plans to set up a four-man committee to study the immigration problem and to plan for job placements.

"We've got to act now," Ald. R. K. Gervin said. "We're facing a very vital question of unemployment."

A winter of heavy snow or icy weather would aggravate the situation.

Two years ago an abnormal winter caused mills and logging operations to halt. Thousands of workers flocked into Vancouver and at the peak more than 35,000 were unemployed.

Ald. Birt Showler found that there was a language bar in the labor market.

"Most of the immigrants have absolutely no knowledge of English," he said. "How can union leaders be expected to direct them to jobs when they can't speak our language?"

Ald. Alex Fisher opposed any investigation of immigration policies. Federal policies, he told council, are none of city council's business.

Fresh Eggs May Get Grade "AA" Rating

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20 (CP)— Newlaid eggs may soon have a special grade of their own—grade "AA."

E. A. Lloyd, chairman of the B.C. Poultry Industries Council, leaves by plane today to attend the Canadian Poultry Industry Council's annual meeting in [illegible].

The special grade will be a major innovation which he will urge. The present grade "A" can now be held in a storage for a lengthy period.

Plane Missing Over Europe

BELGRADE, Nov. 20 (AP)— A United States military plane carrying diplomatic cargo and a crew of four was fired upon by Hungarian and Romanian border guards Monday and now is missing, the American embassy announced tonight.

Sketchy details from Yugoslav sources suggested the plane had been 40 to 200 miles off its scheduled course to Belgrade from Erding air base near Munich, Germany.

Reports from the pilot, as disclosed by the embassy, made no mention of damage from the shooting.

A search was carried on today by British, American and Italian planes along Italy's Adriatic coast and will be extended into Northern Yugoslavia tomorrow.

Chinese Held For Ransom From Canada

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20 (CP) — The Tribune today published the text of a cable from The China Mail in Hong Kong on reports that relatives of Canadian Chinese are being held by the Chinese Communists for ransom.

The cable is in reply to an inquiry sent by The Tribune following reports from many Canadian points that Chinese in Canada are being blackmailed by the Reds.

The Hong Kong cable says several cases have been reported from Toishan district near Canton, where a large number of emigrants to Canada originated.

The paper also reports that Winnipeg Chinese have formed an anti-Communist league. The newspaper says its informant on a previous blackmail story was threatened with death.

In Vancouver, a letter showing how the Communists in China are attempting to extort more than a $1,000,000 from Chinese-Canadians was produced today.

The letter made no mention of direct money demands, but was blunt about the tortures that await relatives in China.

It was written to a local Chinese business man by his nephew in Hong Kong.

PARIS, Nov. 20 (AP)— West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived in Paris today for talks with the foreign ministers of France, Britain and the United States.

Wet Socks Exonerated

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The government - sponsored Medical Research Council assured Britons tonight that wet socks and chilly drafts don't cause colds but living with school children does.

Adults having school children in their homes were twice as susceptible, the council said it had found in its experiments these last two years.

But, as for the old fears about wet feet, getting tired in the rain and those drafty old British houses, the council said groups of volunteers had tested it all scientifically.

"In no case was any evidence obtained that such conditions would either bring on a natural cold or increase susceptibility to experimental infection with the cold virus," the council reported.

British-Haters Demonstrate Solidarity

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 20 (AP)— Two British-hating Premiers of the Middle East, Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran and Mustapha Nahas Pasha of Egypt, embraced and kissed in a dramatic show of Moslem solidarity here today.

Tens of thousands of Egyptians lionized the feeble Iranian Premier, who arrived from Washington for a four-day state visit. They cheered him frantically at the airport and crowds outside his hotel hailed him as an "enemy of the British" and a "hero of revolution."

They shouted "revolution" and "we want arms" as the Egyptian Premier drove away after a 50-minute call on the Iranian.

Police declared a state of emergency and stationed reserves throughout the city to preserve order during Mossadegh's visit.

Mossadegh has nationalized British oil interests in his country and thrown out their technicians. Nahas Pasha is trying to push the British out of the Suez Canal zone and Sudan.

Early Action to Be Urged On Key Defense Decisions

ROME, Nov. 20 (AP)—Chiefs of staff of the North Atlantic Pact countries decided today to urge their governments to settle the size, shape and leadership of Mediterranean, Atlantic Ocean and Middle East defenses early in 1952.

Meeting as a committee, the military men are preparing for talks by the foreign, defense and finance ministers at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council meeting beginning here Saturday.

Representing Canada was Lieut.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of her chiefs of staff.

Italy's powerful Communist party laid plans for a propaganda rally to coincide with the council opening.

The military committee itself made little headway over the projected command structures.

Britain, on paper, is committed to the idea of an American admiral heading the Atlantic set-up. In turn, a British soldier—probably Gen. Sir Brian Robertson—has been tabbed for the top job in the projected Middle East command.

But Britain wants the Atlantic and Middle East appointments agreed on and announced together.

American sources reported, however, that the United States insists the two problems not be combined as the sort of package deal the British want.

Elliott Elected

SOOKE, Nov. 20—J. Elliott has been returned as president of the Sooke-Jordan River Chamber of Commerce.

At the group's annual meeting, held at Sooke Harbor House, G. Oliver was elected vice-president for the coming year, and G. D. Elgar, F. Thornber, D. J. DeRoche, D. Elder, W. Kennedy, E. Banner, J. Hunter and J. D. Reeves were named directors.

Guest speaker was Walter S. Miles, president of the Associated Chamber of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

Oddities

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)— Times must be good. Even the hoboes are talking expansion.

Six of them abandoned the Bowery today and sought out the vice-president of the Modern Industrial Bank on Lower Fifth Avenue. They rode a cab, no less.

Harry Baronian, editor of the Bowery News, was their spokesman. He told the bankers he wanted a $2,000 loan.

While he made his pitch, his fellow hoboes roamed the bank lobby peddling the Bowery News—a sort of newspaper champion of the non-working man.

Baronian said Bowery hoboes provide free entertainment every Saturday night for about 50 persons, including servicemen. He didn't describe the entertainment.

"A loan of say $2,000," Baronian explained, "will enable the boys to take over a dilapidated building and the boys can fix it up."

That would give them a roomier entertainment centre, he said.

It also would provide sleeping spaces for about 20 hoboes now paying 50 cents a night in a flophouse.

Said Abner Jackson, vice president of the bank:

"We told them we would consider their application."

CANTERBURY, Eng. (CP)— Small boys and girls in a local church choir have asked their vicar for an increase in wages. They said the penny they get for each service just won't meet the rising cost of living.

Radio-Active Smoke In List of Weapons

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)— A startling variety of radio-active weapons is disclosed in a series of patent cases issued to Jack Dement of the Dement Laboratories, Portland, Ore.

These patents recently were released from the secret list. They show what enemies can do.

Countries having the atom-splitting reactors to make these radio-active weapons are Canada, the United States, Britain, Russia, France and Sweden.

All the weapons are made from radio-active atoms. There are about 70 different kinds of atoms to select from.

There are reports that Russia is working on radio-active weapons in inner Siberia and other places.

Radio-active rays do not strike anyone dead. It may take hours or days of exposure to do harm, but no one can see, feel, hear, taste or smell them.

Dement's patents cases follow:

One is poison gas, with radio-activity added. Decontamination squads can destroy the poison spread by war gases but not the radio-activity.

Other patent cases cover radio-active smokes of 600 varieties. Chemical elements that can be made radio-active in smokes include iron, silicon, copper, lead, aluminum, nickel, arsenic, gold, silver and many others.

A projectile can be dipped or coated with radio-active materials.

An unusual weapon is radio-active fire. The napalm (jelled gasoline) used in Korea can carry radio-active substances.

Then there are the "death sands" that stick to the clothing of personnel and magnetic sands that will jump and stick to tanks, vehicles and guns.

Midway in Program

DECISION of the Greater Victoria School Board to go ahead next year with its construction program, if given provincial assent, is understandable. At the time the amalgamated body took over a survey was made of the incidence and growth of school population in the Greater Victoria area. One result was the realization that several thousand children had been added to the rolls, and that this rate of increase could be expected, little if any modified, for some time to come. When the board projected its building requirements for the immediate future it was seen that it would require $5,000,000 at a minimum to catch up with current needs and to make the smallest form of provision for the immediate years ahead. Since then the board has built some modernized schools in a commencement on that program.

Announcement this week that the amalgamated body will seek leave to proceed with a new central junior high school, extensions to Mount View high school, a junior high school elsewhere and a primary school in the James Bay area, means that the program is being adhered to, as it should be. If the cost of new construction comes within the estimates set out for that portion of the program there is no reason why there should be any lack of consent on the part of the province. The new program already has made a material improvement not only in school accommodation in the Greater Victoria area, but also in the school services available for the whole area. As to population pressures and mounting school registrations only added accommodation can hope to keep abreast of that, as the Minister of Education has already said.

The continued shortage of trained teachers is in much the same position. So long as 1,000 vacancies arise in teaching rosters each year, 600 from normal resignations and 400 on account of new schools, definite steps will have to be taken to fill these gaps. That is primarily a provincial responsibility, and the Department of Education will have support for progressive moves to keep abreast of the situation.

Gulf Islands Ferry Link

REPORTS that Ss. Princess Elaine is being refitted to take over the Gulf Islands ferry run from the Princess Mary should allay fears among settlers and trades people on the islands that they might be left without steamer service when the Mary is withdrawn. It has been common knowledge for more than a year that the old ship had become uneconomical to operate and would soon be taken out of service, and residents of the islands have been apprehensive over the lack of information about a replacement.

The service is important to tourist traffic, but more than that is involved. Settlement of the Gulf Islands has been made possible by the existence of a regular steamer connection for mails and supplies, and continued operation of that service the year around is vital to those permanently residing on the islands. Cessation of a regular ferry service would be a very serious matter to them, and undoubtedly would deter the further development of which these delightful islands are capable.

While the extent and frequency of the service to be provided by the Elaine will not be known until the company makes an official announcement, it is reassuring to the Gulf Islands settlements to learn that they will not be left stranded when the Mary is withdrawn. Sidney also has a special interest in this matter. Merchants there feel that a fair share of the business of the islands should come their way, and the service proposed for the Elaine should assure them of that.

Use of a ship larger than the Princess Mary presents some problems in connection with wharf accommodation, and should strengthen Sidney's case for extension of the facilities there. Other ports of call on the Mary's route also have inadequate berthage apparently, and these are matters which will have to be taken up with the Federal Government if the best service possible is to be provided.

An Intriguing Episode

WITH the official disclosure that the R.C.N. surgeon-lieutenant serving until recently aboard the Cayuga is in fact an imposter, one of the most intriguing episodes in Canadian Navy annals comes to a head. It must have been an embarrassing situation for naval headquarters, faced with the unspoken question of multitudes as to how this man was accepted by the R.C.N. in the first place, even if armed with credentials that did not belong to him.

The astounding part of the whole affair, of course, is that a person now thought to have but a smattering of medical experience gained as a hospital orderly should have been able to perform the surgery credited to him in the Far East. The culprit's father is reported to describe his son as "bright to the point of genius," and these words certainly seem to fit the case. Not once, apparently, did he arouse the suspicion of his fellow officers of the Cayuga, and presumably he took care of the ship's daily sick parade with perfect aplomb. Nothing ever occurred to challenge the belief he was a fully qualified medical man.

The pseudo surgeon-lieutenant, presently at Naden, will be discharged from the navy in due course, no doubt leaving many a whimsical eyebrow raised behind him. One supposes the law could be weighted against him if he has been posing wrongfully as a doctor and thereby, in theory at least, prejudicing the physical welfare of his patients. In piquant rebuttal to this, however, is the competence with which he carried out all his medical assignments. He may be an imposter but seemingly he has played the part with unusual distinction.

GRATITUDE EXPRESSED

Sir,—May I take this opportunity to thank your newspaper, and to the many who so kindly helped us in so many thoughtful ways after our misfortune may we say gratefully many, many thanks. MR. AND MRS. DART AND BABY.
Royal Roads, B.C.

THANKS TO PUBLIC

Sir,—I would like to register a sincere thanks to the many splendid people who answered my appeal for help to John Dart and family.

It is not possible to thank each one personally, which I would dearly like to, but I hope each person will take this as a sincere appreciation.

In these days, when the tendency seems to be for self preservation, it is gratifying to know that sympathy for the unfortunate people who meet with disaster are rememberd by people with a heart of gold, and to The Colonist for your publicity. Once again, I thank you all.

IN THE DAWN

Sir,—Dairymen in their efforts to conform with the law should remember the plight of the man who in the dark, early morning hours dipped up two frogs with the water from the brook, and in their frantic efforts to remain on top during the trip to town they had churned the cream into butter. MRS. JESSIE M. NESS.

ADMISSION PRICES

Sir,—In a recent issue of your paper there appeared a statement by a Vancouver booking agent to the effect that such theatrical performances as the Sadler's Wells Ballet could not be brought to Victoria because Victorians were "not interested." A further comment was that the high rental price of the local theatres had nothing to do with it.

One feels one cannot let these remarks go unchallenged.

When the Ballet Russe was here, the Royal Victoria Theatre was packed to the gods, and for days afterwards one heard the disappointed wails of those who had been unable to get seats.

When Mr. Donald Wolfitt brought his company here a few years ago in three of Shakespeare's plays, his houses were all so good that if his expenses had not been so appallingly out of line he would have been very glad to return, and often. He informed those of us who were present at a luncheon given for him here, that Victoria audiences had been gratifyingly responsive, but that the high rental of the theatre and the uncooperative—the word is his—attitude of the C.P.R., rendered the possibility of his return doubtful.

For the Vancouver gentleman to say that the rental cost of a theatre is never considered is a bit absurd. What else governs the price of the tickets? And it's the price of the tickets that keeps Victoria audiences away in droves. If people cannot afford expensive entertainment, they cannot afford it.

Victoria badly needs an intelligently planned and organized civic theatre. I speak with some authority on this, I think, being a working member of the local guild, which finds itself coping more and more with an ever-increasing audience interest and a correspondingly decreasing adequacy of seating capacity.

Victoria's children grow up in almost complete ignorance of legitimate drama. That in itself should be a matter of concern in a city this size. It means that tomorrow's audiences will be progressively less and less capable of being "interested" in anything above the level of the average motion picture. A bitter thought.

INFORMATION ASKED

Sir,—Some time ago I subscribed to a lottery on a Chevrolet motor-car sponsored by the Victoria Athletics Association. As this lottery was later on banned by the authorities, I wrote to the secretary of the association, 704 Broughton Street, requesting a refund of the money I paid for the tickets purchased. So far he has not answered my letter and I am wondering whether or not I wrote to the right party?

I think in most cases tickets were bought for participation in the lottery and not for membership in the association. E. W. CLEMENTS.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE Rommel film I had to see, since I had read Desmond Young's book and that German general has now become a legend, "The Desert Fox" picture makes him a paladin.

It is an absorbing film, magnificently acted, although strangely enough it deals with Rommel's decline and fall and not with the pre-Alamein days of his desert glory. Except for the minor circumstance that it gives him a marshal's baton slightly earlier than was actually the case, there seems to be scarcely a false note. James Mason plays Rommel better than Rommel could have done himself, so well that you forget he is Mason and accept him as the Afrika Korps idol in person.

Most people, I fancy, will also accept Young's story as gospel and believe the film commentator's "this is the true story of Rommel" to be the last word on the subject of this brilliant battle commander. Every nuance and artifice of the picture arouses sympathy and tends to put the audience wholly on his side. Few who see it will not fall victim to the Rommel spell, as in reality Desmond Young and many of his Eighth Army colleagues did before Montgomery appeared on the scene. Indeed in The Colonist the other day I read that Victoria's reserve army messes are likely to toast for long the name of this famous German commander. Brigadier Young has certainly spread his hero-worship.

* * *

This makes of "The Desert Fox" something much more than a Hollywood motion picture. It purports to be history. Yet, you know, the whole emphasis of the book and of the film could be false. I do not say it is, but there are some aspects of the Rommel story that at least bear examination.

Young, as the film makes clear, drew his portrait of the man and his character as the result of postwar researches made in Germany and elsewhere. His information, apart from the battle operations which could be checked with official records, was gained in the main from Rommel's own family, friends and fellow conspirators. It would scarcely then do other than show Rommel in the most favorable light, and the anti-Hitler note, for reasons that are obvious, would be stressed to the limit. That seems a fair enough deduction, and it carries its own implication.

We are asked to believe that Rommel, a shrewd and hard-boiled soldier who served at one time at Hitler's headquarters, was so naive that until after the Alamein disaster he thought Hitler an angel of purity surrounded by evil advisers. Maybe Rommel was so credulous, but . . .

* * *

Until after El Alamein! There is a clue here.

Significant, is it not, that all these German generals who turned on Hitler, sneered at the two stripes he wore in the first world war, and either plotted his death or afterwards claimed no kinship with the Nazis, did so only when Germany started to lose the war? So long as German forces were winning all along the line these field-marshals, colonel-generals and the like were seemingly content to serve the Fuehrer quite happily. The analogy of the sinking ship and the rats comes inevitably to mind.

In Rommel's case he certainly owed his rise to Hitler's good graces. He had merit, undoubtedly, but he got the commands that gave him his chance, and his field-marshal's baton, primarily because Hitler liked him. Even Young's book makes that amply clear.

If Hitler were the ranting creature shown in the Rommel film, and by all other accounts he was, is it not remarkable that these superior beings, the German Army elite, should have served him at all? Is it not equally remarkable that if he were the imbecile these generals claim he was he should have been able to rule Germany—unless they were willing to help and share the spoils? Amazing, surely, that the conspirators should have waited until 1944 before trying to assassinate him—if it were not that by 1944 the spectre of total defeat stared them in the face?

* * *

The bomb plot didn't come off and we on our side of the fence are sorry it didn't. It would have been fine if Hitler had made his exit in July, 1944, instead of in April, 1945. But we are not Germans. Let us cross the fence for a moment.

Hitler was an evil genius and the earth is better off without him, nevertheless the attempt to murder him was treason. The Rommel of the film himself sums up the conspiracy in that very word. The treason may have been justified, as were numerous assassinations of history, but it would have had a sweeter odor had it taken place in time to save both Germany and the Allies from the agony of world war two and not just when the ill-gotten gains Hitler gave Germany were slipping away.

Rommel was a brave and brilliant field commander who earned the respect of his foes by his military prowess. But it would be a mistake to let the "Desert Fox" film go to the head and see him only as a great and virtuous hero. And if Victoria reserve army messes are going to toast his memory for years to come perhaps it would be a good idea to toast Montgomery's too. I doubt that Hollywood will ever make a movie about Monty, but it was Montgomery, fortunately for us all, who hit Rommel for six.

The Arab League's Opportunity

By NEVILL BARBOUR, From London

IN 1936 England and Egypt signed a treaty to remain valid for 20 years unless revised by mutual agreement. Both countries regarded this treaty as a happy adjustment of the problems arising from the former British occupation, and its anniversary was celebrated as such in Egypt in succeeding years. It is true that the retention of a British base in the canal area was regarded by the Egyptians as an impairment of their sovereignty, since it was not the custom then, as it has become since the war, for such facilities to be given to allies in peacetime.

But Fascist Italy was menacing Egypt from the west and from the south, and the presence of a British garrison was a guarantee of Egyptian independence. The treaty worked well and became the basis of Anglo-Egyptian co-operation in the war. It enabled Egypt to keep her territory inviolate and to become a founder member of the United Nations. When, however, peace had been restored and the world was looking forward to a long period of international calm, it was natural that she should seek a revision. Britain was anxious to meet this desire and in 1946 an agreement was in view by which the canal base would be left to Egypt to maintain and British troops would only return in case of war or imminent threat of war.

* * *

At the last moment, the negotiations broke down on the issue of the Sudan which the Egyptian government, for reasons which are not easily comprehensible to others, insists on linking with the question of the canal base. The 1936 treaty, therefore, remained the basis of Anglo-Egyptian relations. Meanwhile the international situation became so much worse that the free world, which was everywhere organizing its defenses on a regional basis, could not afford to leave the canal zone unprepared to meet sudden aggression.

The logical solution seemed to be that the base should cease to be British and become part of the Middle East defense organization in which Egypt would be a partner. Egypt was, however, unwilling to await the result of negotiations between Britain and the other powers concerned. On October 8, though knowing that important new proposals would be put forward in a few days, she unilaterally declared the treaty abrogated. The British Government, while completing the new proposals, had no alternative but to maintain her position in the canal zone as authorized by the treaty.

* * *

A new plan was presented by the Egyptian Government on October 13 by the British ambassador, and the ambassadors of the U.S.A., France and Turkey. Britain agreed to give up the 1936 treaty and to hand over the base to Egypt, provided that it should at once become a base under an allied Middle East command in which Egypt would participate as a founder and an equal partner. Only such British troops would remain as were agreed by this command, in which Egypt would have a position of high authority and responsibility. In case of war, Egypt would be expected to provide such facilities as she did for Britain in the last war. The allies would assist in training the Egyptian Army and supply it with arms. The British Government accompanied the offer with new proposals for the Sudan.

In the heated condition of Egyptian public opinion, the proposals were rejected out of hand. Egypt thus assumed an attitude of antagonism towards the nations of the free world to whom alone she can look for the safeguarding of her independence, and of the ideals of liberty which she shares with them.

* * *

Moreover, she has created a very difficult position for the Arab League, by whom she is esteemed and respected as their most influential member. If the other Arab states do not support Egypt, the unity of the Arab front will be broken; while if they do support Egypt, then the whole Arab world will be isolated from the free world and put in jeopardy. The Arab states will be in the position of Holland before the last war—liable to be overwhelmed before there is time to co-ordinate their defense with their only possible allies.

Egypt herself may be a long way from Russia, but Iraq is as near as Egypt was to Fascist Italy. Saudi Arabia is enjoying a tremendous prosperity from the development of her oil resources with the aid of the U.S.A., and the last thing which she wishes is the seizing of her oil fields by the Communists. Syria and Lebanon cannot stand alone against the menace from the north. On the other hand, if Egypt reconsiders her position and consents to join the allied command she will have secured her defense and that of the whole Arab world as far as is humanly possible. Through Egypt the Arabs will, for the first time, participate directly in the councils of the great powers in matters affecting the Middle East.

Egypt will receive arms and equipment which she requires for her army, and invaluable facilities for training it. It cannot be doubted, therefore, that the Arab League acted with wisdom in refusing to endorse the immediate rejection of the proposals, and in postponing the decision till the Arab delegates at the United Nations have had time to give the matter full consideration.

In spite of the uncompromising statement of its secretary-general, Assam Pasha, the Arab League has left the way open for a decision which could be an act of the highest statesmanship, and greatly raise its reputation in the free world.

Stop Using Back Door

(From The Financial Post)

IN these days of steadily growing taxation and growing dependence on government to do things we once did ourselves, it is good to have a sharp warning as to where this easy course must lead. That warning came from J. Gerald Godsoe, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, in an address recently.

"The state," he said bluntly, "cannot undertake to do anything without imposing conditions and restrictions. There is no other way in which it can work. As it assumes more and more control it of necessity has to exercise more and more power, thus affecting our daily life to the point where we may awaken too late and find that we have lost that which is our most precious heritage."

Scarcely a week passes, as he pointed out, without some group or delegation pressing one or other of our governments to undertake some new project for spending public moneys or to embark upon some form of paternalism.

"Business men have been as imprudent as anyone else in this respect and all too frequently have gone running to the government to seek some redress or some remedy, when the answer, the problem were tackled with some enterprise, could well have been found in the hands of business itself."

If we are really sincere in preserving the principles of free enterprise as well as personal freedom itself, then as Mr. Godsoe warns "we should not be developing state control by the backdoor method" of catching hold of the coat tails of government every time we want something, instead of fending for ourselves.

QUICK CHANGE

Six West German border policemen denied in court in Brunswick charges that they sang Nazi songs in their barracks. They admitted singing the tunes of "We March Against England" and "Bombs On England," but claimed that they had changed the words to "We are riding on the tramcar" and "Bombs on the labor exchange." The magistrate fined them between 30 and 50 marks.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

ONE of the boys home wounded from Korea telephoned me to come and see him in the hospital to talk about the Cold War.

"What is this Cold War?" he enquired from his iron bed, where he looked pretty p'eaked. "Does nobody in the country realize that Canada is at war? Ordinary war, where guys are getting killed and wounded the same as in the Normandy landing? Canadian regiments are fighting right now, every day, all day, all night. But it looks to me as if 99 Canadians out of 100 are completely unaware that we are fighting a real war."

I said that it might be 999 out of 1,000 of us who went not only through a whole day but a whole week without once thinking about Korea. Even when we see news stories in the papers each day, we actually skip over them, without letting the facts penetrate our thoughts. It is almost as if it were a war between the Serbs and the Croats. A far-off thing that does not really concern us.

The boy took a local newspaper off the enamel bedside table.

"You look through that paper," he said, "and see if you can find any news about us Canadians at war. But I happen to know that right now, several thousand Canadians—just guys like me—are crouching in the frozen mud, lugging equipment and supplies up dirt roads under shellfire and bombs, spending every minute every hour at the risk of their lives, shooting and being shot at. And, who gives a damn?"

I looked through that paper, and could find nothing on Korea. It must have been an oversight on some editor's part. Maybe it would be in the next edition, or possibly it had been in the one before.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—A reduction of $200,000 in taxation next year was forecast in a statement on the financial condition of Victoria by Mayor J. Carl Pendray yesterday. This is equivalent to a 5-mill cut in the tax levy.

50 YEARS AGO—The steamer Clansman is expected from Seattle today with the rails for the extension of the Victoria & Sidney railway from Hillside Avenue to the city market.

85 YEARS AGO—A large number of canoes arrived yesterday from the West Coast, and the Indians are encamped at James Bay. One of the objects of their visit is to endeavor to have title to the reserves settled.

Junking of Milk Board Predicted by Dairymen

DUNCAN, Nov. 20.—Vancouver Island dairymen expect the dissolution of the Provincial Milk Board next spring.

At the annual meeting here of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, Duncan and District branch, association secretary-treasurer Henry G. Robinson told delegates:

"We expect the board to be thrown out in the spring without any action by us. It is up to our new executive to then go into action."

He was one of a delegation of angry dairymen who recently interviewed provincial agriculture minister Harry Bowman on the actions of the milk board.

Jack Shaneman, another dairyman delegate, said that Mr. Bowman told the group he was not happy with the present three-member Milk Board, and would "welcome revamping it."

Mr. Bowman, said Mr. Shaneman, suggested the board either be taken out of government hands, or left alone. Only alternative, he said, was a return to the old milk marketing board.

Mr. Bowman has also said that many dairymen on the Island should not be in business, and that the Island could not support a dairy industry, Mr. Shaneman told delegates.

HIT "POLLUTION"

"Pollution" of Vancouver Island milk by Fraser Valley milk came in for censure by delegates.

Joseph Fall, an association director, said that a large percentage of Victoria and Duncan area milk has "a big percentage of four-day-old Fraser Valley milk in it."

Delegates passed a resolution calling for a test of public opinion on the issue. It was suggested that a test poll be conducted with Island and Fraser Valley milk in separate bottles.

Delegates contend that the milk producer is forced to dilute his milk in this manner, and that if pure Vancouver Island milk is to be sold, it should be plainly labeled, and sold at a different price than the diluted product.

There were no details on how or when the proposed poll would be conducted.

Mr. Robinson told delegates he would present a fresh application for an increase in prices paid to producers at the forthcoming meeting of the Milk Board on skip-a-day milk delivery.

In association elections, area representatives were named as follows: Victoria, R. Mercer, James Burdge, John Pendray, John Oliver; Nanaimo, Alan Galloway and Ray Mambly, Duncan, Steve Dugan, D. Hayes and J. Saville.

H.M.S. Pinafore Berths Happily at Royal

By EILEEN LEAROYD

His Majesty's good ship "Pinafore" came to a happy berth in the Royal Theatre last night.

No ship's crew ever had a lustier civic welcome, from Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B., First Lord of the Admiralty, down to villainous Dick Deadeye. Even the large company of women aboard (sisters, cousins and aunts) were given a rousing welcome for a rousing reception.

The show, which played to a packed house, was just as delightful and refreshing as the breeze which blew the White Ensign over Pinafore's bow. It was performed with the quickness of pace and polish of a professional company.

Audiences attending amateur shows so often resign themselves to an uncomfortable 10 or 15 minutes of tension while the cast warms up. But with Pinafore this tension never did appear, and the performance rolled on merrily from the opening chorus of "We Sail the Ocean Blue" to the finale when the 65 in the company took bows together.

"Gales of laughter proved again that Sir William Gilbert's sharp satire and lively wit are not affected by time and that the barbs go home now as they did in Queen Victoria's time, and Sir Arthur Sullivan's music glitters as brightly."

It would be hard to find the star of this show. Three outstanding were John Boel as Ab. Ralph Rickstraw, Alan Robertson as the First Lord of the Admiralty, and William Lugrin Fahey as Captain of the Pinafore.

John Boel as the "suitor lowly born with love and passion torn" who loved a lass above his station, perhaps shone just a little brighter than anyone else.

His clear, youthful tenor voice, and his diction were excellent. He seemed to be having a wonderful time, totally unaware of an audience at all. He needed no spotlights to emphasize his gaiety and personal charm as a stage personality."

Fahey and Robertson, both with good strong voices, showed a sharp sense of the ridiculous, acted and sang their parts with poise and professional assurance.

Dorothy Kenward Smith made an attractive picture and sang a sweet Josephine. Little Buttercup was portrayed by Mildred Allen with proper earthy humor. Ivan Howell was effective as Dick Deadeye, but might have behaved in slightly deadlier fashion.

Gilbert's lyrics are rolled off at a tongue-tripping rate notoriously difficult for choruses. Generally speaking, the chorus parts were done in superlative style, but there were one or two rough spots where the words were hard to catch.

Costuming was excellent, but seemed to be better where the men were concerned. Josephine was beautifully gowned in the second act, but her frock was not very attractive for the first act.

Dances by the chorus were beautifully handled. Cues and movements could not have been better. At times there were 50 and 60 people on stage at once with never a bump, bruise or blunder evident.

H.M.S. Pinafore will be in port again this evening and tomorrow evening.

Anyone missing this show will never (or hardly ever) find any local production to surpass it.

Recital Features Handel

The music of Friedrich Handel was featured by three of the four soloists at the Schubert Club recital last night in Centennial United Church.

Guest violinist Birke Brookbank played the first movement of Handel's Sonata No. 3 as his only selection of the evening.

Leonard Stelk, guest tenor, sang "Where E'er You Walk," another Handel favorite, as one of his four solos.

As her second rendition of the recital, Miss Alice Waddell, soprano, offered Handel's "Thanks be to Thee," which was greeted with enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Soloist with the choir, under the direction of conductor Frederic King, was Maidie Carver.

Choral selections included works by Nathaniel Dett, Albert Moffat and Peter de Rose.

They also sang two popular Negro spirituals, "Deep River" and "I Don't Feel No Ways Tired."

The Schubert Club, now in it's 29th season in Victoria, is under the direction of Mr. King, club organizer and conductor.

Elderly Fan Dies at Game

NANAIMO, Nov. 20.—Robert Nixon, an elderly hockey fan, collapsed and died at the Kerrisdale-Nanaimo game in the Civic Arena tonight.

Mr. Nixon died at about 9.40 p.m., apparently from a heart attack. He was carried to the rink office and Dr. A. H. Hall was called as was the fire department inhalator. Mr. Nixon was pronounced dead upon the doctor's arrival.

Management Body Hears B.C. Electric Executive

A lack of understanding of published financial statements was one of the things that impressed Ralph Purves, financial officer of the B. C. Electric Co., during his recent association with 85 other members of the office management course at the University of Western Ontario.

Mr. Purves, speaking to Victoria Branch of the National Office Management Association, at the Pacific Club last night, gave a summary of the five-week course.

He stressed the need for a closer association of management and individual office managers in big business today, in order to "feel out" the market, with particular reference to the price of their individual product.

He cited examples of large American companies who had cut their prices almost in half and nearly doubled their volume.

"Business is becoming more and more complex all the time," he said, and as a result, the office manager is swamped with a greater number of small details for personal attention than ever before.

The office manager should be a member of the management team, he said, so that collective thinking can become standard office procedure.

Rally Falls Far Short; Market Closes Lower

By AP and CP

A last-minute recovery in the New York stock market yesterday cut back losses materially, but the market nevertheless closed on the downside.

There were plenty of dividend declarations to keep things lively, and surprises in such evoked instant response.

Aside from these special situations, the market was largely a routine trading affair.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 30 cents at $95.90.

Lack of trading interest was indicated by the low volume of 1,120,000 shares.

Slightly firmer support toward the session's close checked declining prices on the Toronto stock exchange. Industrials opened lower and eased for the fourth consecutive session.

Liquors posted a majority of fractional advances to form the market's strongest session. Volume was about 1,700,000 shares.

Stock prices dropped abruptly near the close on the Montreal stock exchange and curb market. Trading increased from Monday's extremely dull pace.

Changes ranged to more than two points among the more active leaders, with declines holding about a six-to-one edge.

Senior metals were in the forefront of the decline.

Base metals moved into higher price levels but oils showed declines on the Vancouver stock exchange.

Prices were irregular at the close on the Winnipeg grain exchange, prompted by late declines on Chicago markets.

Early in the trade, most grains moved up to new seasonal highs, but these advances were reduced or erased as offerings increased toward the close.

Molson, a cousin, who retired recently after serving as a member of the bank board for 13 years. Some years before becoming a chartered accountant, Mr. Molson became actively associated with Molson's Brewery Ltd., and was appointed secretary of the company in 1946. Among the companies with which he is associated as a director are the Canadian Management Co. Ltd., Jamaica Public Service Co. Ltd., Canadian Industries Ltd., Standard Clay Products Ltd. and Stone & Webster (Canada) Ltd. Mr. Molson was general chairman of the successful $18,000,000 campaign undertaken in May, 1950, for the Joint Hospital Fund of Montreal.

Contracts Back Proposal To Export Gas

CALGARY, Nov. 20 (CP)—A proposal, supported by contracts, to export 76,000,000,000 cubic feet of Alberta natural gas to British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest at a capital cost of $92,000,000 was placed before the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board today.

Northwest Natural Gas Co. and its subsidiaries, Alberta Natural Gas Grid Ltd. and Alberta Natural Gas Co., made the proposal.

A. F. Dixon of New York, northwest president, said his company had entered 20-year contracts to buy Alberta gas from Canadian Gulf Oil Co. Ltd., California Standard Oil Co. Ltd., Britalta Petroleum Co. and Deep Rock Oil Co.

This gas would come from the Pincher Creek, Princess, Many Islands and Dunsmore Fields at a price of 10¾ cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the first three years with an annual increase thereafter of one-quarter cent per 1,000 cubic feet.

The average sale price to the distributing companies would be 31.58 cents per 1,000 cubic feet delivered at the city gate.

Firm contracts for delivery had been signed with Seattle Gas Co. at 32.25 cents per 1,000 cubic feet and Portland Gas Company at 31.89 cents. Contracts were pending with Washington Gas and Electric Co., Bellingham Gas Co. and Wenatchee Gas Co.

Price at the city gate for B.C. Electric Co. Ltd., Vancouver, mainland system would be 35.9 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Of the total annual requirements of 76,000,000,000 cubic feet a year, 11,500,000,000 would go to B.C. consumers and 64,500,000,000 to U.S. consumers.

Mr. Dixon said that while Vancouver would be "at the end of the line," it would be assured delivery of its gas needs. A clause inserted in each contract with U.S. distributors stated that B.C. consumers would have priority over U.S. consumers as part of the agreement to export Alberta gas.

Master Agreement for Carpenters Sought

ON THE LABOR FRONT

A province-wide master agreement for carpenters will be the chief aim of the Provincial Council of Carpenters' annual convention at Vancouver.

The convention is Dec. 14 and 15, said Victor Midgley, international business representative for Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) on Vancouver Island.

Wages will be the main point of the proposed master agreement. If passed, however, it will serve only as an aim of carpenters' locals throughout the province, he said.

At present there is no over-all contractors' association through which the carpenters' union can bargain, such as is the case with the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and lumber operators.

* * *

Roy Whittle, business agent in Victoria for the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), probably will leave the city within the next two months.

He said yesterday there is "every possibility" employment will take him outside the city. Mr. Whittle has been business agent since March, 1949, and an I.W.A. member since the union's provincial inception in 1941. From 1939 to 1949 he was employed at Cameron Mill, now the B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

The 32-year-old union member was elected as a city alderman last year but was disqualified for insufficient property qualifications.

* * *

Henry Nowotnik, spokesman for Victoria Brewery Workers (C.C.L.) local will attend a union executive meeting at Vancouver today for discussion on the present month-old strike at four mainland and Island breweries. He said there was still no official indication of a strike settlement.

* * *

Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) and Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.) hold their regular meetings tonight. The latter council is expected to nominate delegates for the provincial T.L.C. convention at Penticton, December 5. Resolutions for the convention also are expected to be presented.

Hospitals and unions have nine days in which to complete agreements for 1952 if contracts have not already been agreed upon. The Hospital Insurance Act requires that all agreements must be concluded by November 30 for the following calendar year. The clause is to enable the hospital insurance commission to keep check on hospital budgets throughout the province.

Unions have hotly contested the clause, pointing out the words which place it ahead of any requirements of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

The Rand formula will go into effect at a third plant of Consolidated Mining and Smelting. Mediation board members, chairman Judge E. P. Dawson, and union representative J. E. Gordon, voted in favor of the formula. [illegible] International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. Edward Benson voted against it.

The clause, requiring employees to pay union dues regardless of whether they belong to the union, will affect about 80 employees of the "HB" mine at Salmo. Other clauses of the 1952 wage contract were settled earlier.

Mine, Mill also has the formula at Trail and Kimberley.

Second Air Cadet Squadron Proposed to Kiwanis Group

A suggestion that Victoria have a second Air Cadet squadron has been placed before North Victoria Kiwanis Club.

"There is no reason why Victoria is limited to one unit," Flying Officer Walter Eaton told the club last night. FO. Eaton is commanding officer of 89th Kinsmen Air Cadet Squadron, Victoria.

He said many lads want to take advantage of the cadet training. "We can handle a squadron of 125," he added. Weekly parade turnout is about 80 boys.

FO. Eaton told the club it would be worth while investigating the requirements of sponsoring a squadron.

"We are not concerned with turning out cannon fodder," he said. "Our aim is to turn out citizens with ability to work in concert with others, persons capable of self-discipline."

He described the league as "in partnership" with the Royal Canadian Air Force, but not as a whole source for R.C.A.F. recruits.

Some of the past members have learned civilian flying, earned apprenticeships in England, won courses at Royal Roads or entered the R.C.A.F

Lonely Orphan's Search Theme of Christmas Play

A lonely little orphan girl's quest for Santa Claus is the theme of this year's Hudson's Bay Company Christmas party at the Royal Theatre, Dec. 1, 8 and 15.

With a youthful cast of 150 Florence Clough dancing school pupils, the production stars eight-year-old Sharon Kirk, as the orphan; Judy MacCormac, 12, as the Spirit of Christmas; Frances Rigbey, as the Fairy Queen, and Gary Smele, as Santa's head worker.

A proven crowd-getter in past years, the H.B.C. show will play two performances daily, with tickets going on sale Monday on the store's fourth floor.

Proceeds go to the work of the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The curtain will go up at 9.30 and again at 11.30 a.m. on each performance of the three-day run.

There's no mistaking the "fresh-flavor" of Nob Hill.
And here's why. It arrives at your SAFEWAY Store weeks sooner than most—weeks fresher. It arrives still fresh from the roasting ovens. To keep it fresh, it arrives in the original package—the whole coffee bean itself. YOU grind it fresh when you buy it. THAT'S fresh coffee!
Nob Hill is the same kind of choice coffee you are accustomed to. It's fresher, that's all... because it was not factory-ground weeks before you get it. And because you grind it yourself, you save 4¢ or more on every pound you buy. Simple, isn't it?

Leger Flashes Top Form in Triumph Over Edmonton

Coach Roger Leger last night flashed form which won him Pacific Coast Hockey League most valuable player award last season as he led Victoria Cougars to 4-3 triumph over Edmonton Flyers. Leger, forced to do double duty with Cougars reduced to three defencemen, did additional work by remaining on ice every time Cougars were shorthanded through penalties. He was on ice for five-minute stretch when Andy Hebenton and Ernie Roche drew penalties close together in second period. He was also potent on attack, setting up two Victoria goals. Above, he sprawls on ice after tripping over stick of Flyers' John Raynak while going after puck in corner.—(Colonist photos by Jim Ryan.)

Buddy Walker, 15, of 1409 Arm Street, gives Bronx cheer and waves cautioning finger as he shows his displeasure at actions on ice.

Bobby Harris, 13, of 936 Arm Street, points toy pistol at offending player but grin dispels possibility of serious action.

Cougars Reinstated By Fans for Win Over Touted Flyers

HOW THEY STAND

Edmonton	8	4	4	52	57	10
Calgary	5	11	1	55	71	11
Vancouver	3	13	0	55	87	6

Next games, tonight: Tacoma at Seattle, Edmonton at New Westminster.

Victoria Cougars skated right back into the good graces of 5,000 home-town fans at Memorial Arena last night by surprising even their most faithful supporters with a well-earned 4-3 triumph over Edmonton Eskimos.

With the Cougars below .500 after four straight setbacks, the sell-out was doubtless a tribute to the drawing power of the touted Flyers but when it was over, the tributes belonged to the scrappy Cougars.

FOURTH-PLACE TIE

The victory gave Cougars the honor of being the first club to best the Flyers away from home and moved them into a fourth-place tie with the Tacoma Rockets in the P.C.H.L.

For the first 17 minutes it appeared as if the Victorians were on their way to a fifth successive setback. The speedy Flyers checking back and breaking fast, ran up a 2-0 lead and were clearly the better club.

Then Joe Evans tipped in a shot by Coach Roger Leger and Edmonton defenseman Bill Dettinger drew a two-minute penalty for interference during a Victoria attack.

MOVE PAYS OFF

Leger sent out four forwards — Ed Dorohoy, Bob Frampton, Andy Hebenton and Jack McIntyre with himself and the move paid off with two quick goals. Leger set up Hebenton for the first and McIntyre, taking a neat pass from Dorohoy, put the Cougars ahead 43 seconds later with some flashy stickhandling which baffled a defenseman and goalie Bill Brennan. Cougars' first three goals were scored in two minutes and 29 seconds.

Skating hard and checking well, the Cougars had the edge in the second period and Frampton scored what proved to be the winning goal on a pass from Dorohoy, his iced shot from the left side catching the inside of the far post.

Cougars held out in the final period until the final minute when Hebenton drew a tripping penalty and Flyers managed to bang one in from a wild scramble with Brennan replaced by a sixth attacker.

Coming as it did after last Friday's fiasco, the fast, interesting exhibition of hockey stilled the growing criticism of some fans and the club, temporarily at least, is back in favor.

GOOD REFEREEING

One of the features was the near-perfect job of officiating turned in by referee Bill Knott and Eddie Powers, taking time out from his duties as a regular referee to fill a void as linesman for one game.

Leger was particularly pleased with the officiating, pointing out that the speedy Edmonton wingers could make it tough for the opposition unless the linesman was on the job. The Cougars checked the Edmonton centres persistently and often delayed them long enough to slow up the play or make them offside.

Oak Bay, Victoria High Rugby Squads Tensed for Howard Russell Cup Game

By IAN GLENDAY

All is quiet in the respective camps of Oak Bay and Victoria High Schools as the two rugby fifteens prepare for battle in the first game of the Howard Russell Cup series at Windsor Park today.

Each team possesses an air of tense grimness and has its sights lowered on the shining silverware that marks inter-high school rugby supremacy. All the preparation put into the rugged training schedules and exhibition games will come into their own when the two squads line up for the opening kick-off.

Victoria High will attempt to wrest the trophy from the defending champions who have not let the prize out of their clutches for eight successive years.

Both teams have imposing records marred by only one defeat apiece. Oak Bay has come a long way since its opening game loss to Victoria College. Due to the graduation of most of last year's players, the champs have had to start from scratch with a rebuilding program and just how well they have done will be answered today.

On the other hand, the Fernwood Road boys have only dropped an 8-5 decision to Kitsilano High School of Vancouver, but will be without the services of two of its big guns—Don Burgess, team captain, and Bob Abbott. Burgess suffered an ankle injury in last Friday's game while Abbott has water on the knee and is expected to be out for the series.

All the drama, color and tenseness a sport fan hopes for is packed into this best-of-three series and both schools turn out in full force for one of the greatest high school spectacles of the year.

Starting line-ups follow:

Oak Bay: Fullback, Les Miller; three-quarters, Bob Cross, Dave Howie, Garry Reeves, Colin Crenshaw; Danny Sinclair, scrum half, Ron Hucles (team captain); forwards, Norm Dickson, Robin Clarke, Kerry McKenzie, Don Menzies, Glen Sharpe, Stuart Wright, Ed Price, Don Cox (scrum captain); coach, Don Oliver.

Victoria High School: Fullback, Ted Wheeler; three-quarters, Pete Ash, Jim Kennett, Don Donahue, Chris Clarke, Charlie Bishop; scrum half, John Skillings; forwards, Ian Parker, Jack Ward, Ken McKenzie, Jerry Chilcotte, Tom Tucker, Leon Thow (scrum captain), Jack Shields, Larry Pierre; coach, Joe Andrews.

They Keep Sport Amateur

If it's worth going to see it's worth paying for is a claim which apparently isn't borne out by some Victorians who attend Sunday and open-park sports events. Don Gray and Percy Payne, who have the thankless job of taking up the collection at Victoria and District Football Association matches, can tell some interesting stories about the lengths some fans go to in order to avoid making a contribution. About 600 fans contributed approximately $30 at Sunday's McGavin Cup final. Largest donation from the occupants of 30 cars parked on the slope at the north end of the Beacon Hill Park pitch was 10 cents, and in the collection was the usual doctored penny. A regular fan, who is known to the collectors, has been going to the trouble of wrapping a penny in tin foil before each game and it is regularly found in the donations. . . . This corner agrees with those who believe that half of the Saturday night N.H.L. broadcasts should originate in Montreal. Personally, I've listened to Foster Hewitt tell about the Toronto Maple Leafs for so long that I just don't bother listening any more. . . . When Leafs sent Ray Timgren to Pittsburgh in the A.H.L., the young forward could have no argument. He had scored only one goal in his last 118 N.H.L. games. . . . Defenseman Ross Lowe has been alternating with Bert Olmstead at right wing on Canadiens' punch line with Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach. . . . George Eade, president of Victoria United, reported last night that the injured Einar Flaaiten will be confined to hospital for about another month. However, the young Norwegian immigrant is improving and Victoria soccer fans who have taken the time out to go and pay him a visit at St. Joseph's Hospital are to be commended. . . . Wallace Milligan, United coach, is still burned up over his banishment from Saturday's Coast Soccer League match with Vancouver City and intends to protest to the B.C.F.A. Referee George Barnes saw it differently and believes he was correct. But overly-quick banishment may spoil a match for the spectators and the crime must merit the punishment. . . .

Quebec League Doing Well

It wouldn't be at all surprising if the P.C.H.L. outdrew the A.H.L. this season. The A.H.L. has several clubs which are not doing much business and may eventually have to cut down the number of clubs or look for new cities in which to place franchises. However, it wouldn't be surprising, either, if the Quebec Senior Hockey League, which will probably go professional next season, outdrew both the smaller pro leagues. Montreal Royals are packing them in, recently setting a record of 14,380 for a game at Montreal Forum, and Quebec and Ottawa are capable of consistently turning out crowds in six figures. The Q.S.H.L. having the advantage of position, has an advantage in getting players on loan or assignment from N.H.L. clubs . . . Hugh McElhenny, backfield star of the Washington Huskies, has made good on 22 out of 25 convert attempts since he took over that job . . . Stan "personality of the week" Williams, who has become a full-fledge partner in the sporting-goods store where he has toiled (?) so long, will be missing from his usual haunts for the next couple of days while he furthers his angling education . . . Edmonton Flyers took to the air to reach Victoria Monday. They left home at 9 a.m. M.S.T. and reached their hotel in Victoria at 1 p.m. P.S.T. . . . Steve Harris, the Commercial Hockey League player who was ordered to play with Civil Service and refused, has appealed to the B.C.A.H.A. and reports are that he will win his request to play for Merchants . . . Roger Leger is looking more and more like the player who led the Cougars to the P.C.H.L. championship last season and is largely responsible for holding his short-handed club together. He has been playing up to 50 minutes a game since Flori Goegan was injured, taking his regular turn as well as extra service when one team or the other is shorthanded. Cougars' fine work while they were shorthanded last night was one of the big reasons for the rather unexpected two points from the Flyers . . . Ivan Temple and Ed Kelpin of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association point with pride to the fact that there are at least 24 players in the Commercial Hockey League who can be considered graduates from their organization. Individuals have the most, 14 . . . Arrangements are being made to bring the Shrine Circus to Memorial Arena early next summer . . . The Victoria Figure Skating Club now has about 670 members and has been forced to temporarily suspend acceptance of new members in its junior section, which now totals 420 members.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Victoria High School in today's Russell Cup match. Edmonton and Seattle in the P.C.H.L., Toronto and Boston in the N.H.L. and Individuals, Merchants and Seven-Ups in the Commercial Hockey League. Individuals Will Fulfill Obligation to Hawaiians

Victoria Individuals are still in existence as a senior basketball team for this week at least.

Manager Sid Watson reported late last night that a meeting of the players had decided after a lengthy discussion that the club is under obligation to play its game against the touring Hawaiian All-Stars this Saturday and the team will go through with the game.

All players were not in attendance at last night's meeting and another meeting will be held next week to decide definitely the team's status for the balance of the season.

Coach Norm Baker, who earlier this week was refused amateur reinstatement as a player by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, was excluded from the meeting, and it is not known whether he will continue as coach or not if the team decides to finish out the season.

NEED DRAWING CARD

The team was reported disbanding after Baker was refused reinstatement, because it felt that it could not meet expenses without Baker as a drawing card.

The Hawaiians are beginning a tour of Canada, the United States and Alaska that will wind up against U.B.C. Thunderbirds at Vancouver February 29. They play at Courtenay tonight, Alberni tomorrow, Nanaimo Friday, Victoria Saturday and Chemainus Sunday.

For those who like added entertainment with their basketball, the Hawaiians are bringing a troupe of Aloha girls who will entertain with hula dances and Hawaiian songs in pre-game and mid-game ceremonies.

Gourdeau In Starry Comeback

NANAIMO, B.C., Nov. 20 (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers tonight chalked up another victory over Kerrisdale Monarchs, hammering the mainland squad 8-4 in a Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League game here.

Mel Gourdeau, star of two previous seasons, returned to Clippers and was personally responsible for half his team's goals.

Crimson Tide Officials To Be Chosen

Selection of the manager, coach and assistant coach of the Crimson Tide for this season's McKechnie Cup rugby series will be made this afternoon at a meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union. The meeting will be held at 918 Government Street, Room 7, at 5.15 p.m.

Training schedule and method of selecting the Victoria team to oppose Varsity at Macdonald Park on December 26 will also come up for discussion.

Another topic likely to be discussed is the proposed visit of an all-British Columbia team to Japan next year. Japanese rugby sponsors have invited a B.C. team to tour Japan and Dr. Boyd Story, president of the B.C. Rugby Union, has authorized negotiations. Details are being handled by Jack Bain, president of the Vancouver Rugby Union.

The B.C. all-stars would include Victoria and Vancouver players.

Victoria Rugby Union games scheduled Saturday pit Crusaders against J.B.A.A. and Oak Bay Wanderers against Victoria College.

Mathews Wins

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 20 (AP)—Harry (Kid) Matthews, leading light-heavyweight contender, tonight made it 64 straight victories and 11 consecutive knockouts when he stopped Dave Whitlock of San Francisco in 1:16 of the second round here.

Four Other Teams Hinted For Amateur Puck Loop

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20 (CP)—The Kerrisdale Monarchs and the Nanaimo Clippers may be joined by four other teams on the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League next year, it is reported here.

Vancouver Towers, a famous name in amateur hockey here from 1912 to 1929, may be re-established next season; New Westminster would be interested if Sunday hockey is permitted; Chilliwack may have a new rink ready in time, and Powell River has made inquiries about rinks and players.

"We can make real money in amateur hockey on the coast but they'll never get out of the red under present arrangements," Allan Fellowes, who is behind the Towers entry, said.

"With a six-team set-up to work with we wouldn't have to bother with the Okanagan Mainline League until the provincial playoffs."

Meanwhile, Sid Hole of the Kerrisdale Monarchs announced today that his team may have a new coach by the end of the season.

"Scotty Milne will remain with us in some capacity," said Hole. "He feels he cannot devote enough time to coaching and consequently isn't getting the most out of his players," Hole said.

"The decision to step down was Scotty's, not mine."

Milne has been with the team since mid-season last year. He will try to find a coach through his connections with the New York Rangers.

Grudge Game Scheduled On Hockey Card Tonight

A season-long feud which has existed between Bill Oliver's Civil Service squad and Jim Lackie's Victoria Merchants will reach the boiling point tonight when the two clubs meet in the feature attraction of the Commercial Hockey League's three-game card at Memorial Arena.

The grudge began at the start of the season when Oliver prevented two of his last year's players from transferring to the Merchants.

Oliver accused Lackie of building a packed club and refused to sign the transfer papers. Since that time there has been unhidden hostility between the teams.

Tonight the teams will meet for the first time this year and the game promises to produce more chain action than an atomic bomb. Both managers have expressed strong feelings that they would not be too unhappy if their respective clubs should smear the opponents.

The teams will ice the same line-ups as last week.

The opening game starting at 7 p.m., is between Individuals and Navy, while league-leading Seven-Ups will meet Army in the finale.

Dick Irving announced that his Individual crew would be missing some regulars tonight. Stan Delaney and Ed Stusek are out with injuries. Bob McConnechy will be busy studying and Arnold Elliott will be working. However, Individuals have a working agreement with the Minor Hockey Association and will be able to fill the vacancies with junior players.

Mike Leachman is confident in his current Seven-Ups crew and is particularly pleased with his "kid line" of Whellan, Bill Olson and son Curly Leachman. This gives the Bottlers another good line to go with their high-scoring trio of Ed Varga, Norm LaCree and Ron Bremner.

BOSTON, Nov. 20 (CP)—Tony Leswick and Red Kelly scored late in the third period to give Detroit's league-leading Red Wings a 2-0 victory over Boston Bruins tonight in a National Hockey League game witnessed by a slim, 6,190 crowd in Boston Garden.

The teams battled through 114 minutes and 57 seconds of scoreless hockey in their last two meetings on Boston ice before little Leswick tallied at 14.57 of the finale on assists from Metro Prystai and Glen Skov.

Then after Bruins' goalie Sugar Jim Henry had been removed for a sixth skater in a desperate attempt to tie the count, defenseman Kelly fired the Red Wings' second goal into the empty net at 19.27. Henry had been sensational until Leswick's rising shot from 30 feet out.

The win, which opened Detroit's first-place margin over the idle Toronto Maple Leafs to seven points, marked the Red Wings' ninth straight contest without a defeat and extended their undefeated road record for the season to nine games. Boston has four ties and three losses to show for seven home games.

Terry Sawchuk kicked out 32 Boston shots on the Detroit goal and registered his fourth shutout of the season.

Saskatoon Extends Win Streak

Saskatoon Quakers extended their undefeated streak to six games by trouncing Calgary Stampeders 7-2 in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game at Saskatoon last night. It was Quakers' fourth straight home victory.

Stampeders remained in contention until the third period, when Quakers punched in four goals without reply, but the Calgary attack lacked cohesion. Quaker goalie Lorne Worsley played an outstanding game to turn back Calgary's few dazzling rushes in the final period.

Calgary coach Hank Blade made widely-separated appearances on the ice but failed to help his team's cause.

Ironmen Lose Star Centre To Cleveland

Cal Stearns, centre of Seattle Ironmen's high-scoring first line, has been recalled by Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. In return, the Barons are sending Ray Ceresino, left winger and centre, to the Ironmen in time for tonight's game against Tacoma Rockets.

Ceresino broke into professional ranks with Toronto Maple Leafs in the 1948-49 season, picking up two points in 12 games with Leafs and 38 points in 47 games with Pittsburgh Hornets of the A.H.L.

He was with Cleveland the past two seasons, scoring 17 goals and 24 assists in 1949-50 and 21 goals and 27 assists last year.

Stearns, with eight goals and 13 assists, is Ironmen's second-highest point-getter this season. He scored 92 points for Kansas City in the United States Hockey League last year.

Tiger-Cats as Solo Stars Hit Poll's Dream Team

TORONTO, Nov. 20 (CP)—Collectively, Ottawa's all-powerful Rough Riders are the hottest guys of the big four football season. But individually the pundits may be directed to the ever-gallant Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

At least, that's the way the experts, football writers, coaches and sportscasters looked at it in the annual Canadian Press all-star poll announced today. The selectors placed five Tiger-Cats on the dream team, two more than the title-winning Riders who knocked out the Cats in their two-game total-points final series.

Toronto Argonauts, who softed up Tiger-Cats for the Ottawa kill in a bruising two-game semifinal round, also placed three men on the team. The high-priced Montreal Alouettes came up with one inside Ray Ciesa, who made the C.P. all-stars for his third consecutive season.

American imports had a representation of nine compared with 11 last year. The three Canadians voted in are:

Ottawa's Bruce Cummings, former University of Toronto kicking and passing back who took over the flying wing berth from Vancouver-born Rod Pantages of the Als; and Bob Simpson, also of the Riders and a product of Windsor, Ont., collegiate ranks, and Tiger-Cats' Eddie Bevan, from Hamilton, who gained a guard spot.

The team:

Flying wing—Bruce Cummings, Ottawa.
Half—Hal Waezenegr, Hamilton.
Half—Billy Bass, Toronto.
Quarter—Bernie Custis, Hamilton.
Snap—Barkets Hirsch, Toronto.
Inside—Ray Ciesa, Montreal.
Inside—Eddie Bevan, Hamilton.
Middle—Bob Gain, Ottawa.
Middle—Jack Carpenter, Hamilton.
Outside—Vince Mazza, Hamilton.
Outside—Bob Simpson, Ottawa.

Games to Cost Vancouver $2,500,000

Staging of the British Empire Games in Vancouver in 1954 will cost between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000.

That was the estimate made by Stan Smith, general chairman of the British Empire Games committee, to the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada at Vancouver.

Smith said that the City of Vancouver has donated $200,000 to be paid in four yearly instalments of $50,000. He added that the provincial and federal governments will be asked for grants and income tax credits will be sought for donations to the Games Fund.

Smith was optimistic about collecting the rest of the money required from the Greater Vancouver area. "I have never seen so much willing assistance offered in anything I have dealt with," he said.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Here's a point that many players lose sight of. The hip pivot calls for a quarter-turn and the shoulder pivot calls for a half turn. In other words, at the top of a full swing the back of your shoulders is "facing" the hole.

To pivot more than this causes any but a very expert player a loss of balance and, in turn, lack of rhythm and timing. Remember that that clubhead must get back to the ball at the correct mechanical instant. If you over-pivot and as a result, over-swing, it is extremely difficult to get that clubhead back to the ball at the instant when the hip and shoulder pivots, the downswing of the arms and the wrist-lash, which you pour in during the last third of the down stroke, have produced the maximum, controlled velocity you can give to that clubhead. It is the blending of the above named forces into a single force at impact and applied with a slightly inside-out swing that delivers maximum distance. Never swing beyond the rhythm point in the effort to add power for too much power is the short route to high scores.

Howe's Climb Threatens Lach's, Richard's Lead

Detroit's Gordie Howe picked up three goals and an assist last week to move into third place in the N.H.L. individual scoring race.

With his eight goals and six assists, Howe is threatening to unseat the two Montreal Canadiens, Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach, who have been sharing first place since the start. The leaders have 16 points each.

Richard's 11 goals are a current mark, while Lach is setting the pace in assists with 14.

Toronto's Al Rollins and Detroit's Terry Sawchuk are currently tied for the goaltending honors. Both have had 28 goals scored on them in 17 games for a 1.65 average. Sawchuk leads in the shutout department with four, including the one he registered last night.

The two Canadian teams are the most penalized. Canadiens have drawn 188 minutes in penalties while Toronto has 171.

Gus Kyle of Boston was banished for 11 minutes in one game last week to up his season total to 37 minutes. Richard was formerly the most penalized player with 30 minutes.

College Presidents Agree Judge Right In Verbal Blast Against Grid Sport

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (INS)—The aggrieved strains of "who, me?" rolled from campuses across the land today, but a specially-convened group of 10 leading college presidents agreed a New York judge had the right idea when he blasted football.

A. Hannah of Michigan State College, chairman of a group which met for two days to work on eliminating the evil from the grid sport, said the blast by Judge Saul Streit at the handling of athletics in colleges had "added impetus" to the committee's discussions.

"Maybe the situation just had to get so bad before you could interest college presidents in it," Hannah said. His committee scheduled another session for Dec. 12-13, but reached tentative agreement meanwhile that the presidents of universities must take full responsibility for cleaning up college athletics.

In New York, where Judge Streit leveled his blast Monday while sentencing 15 basketball fixers, the president of City College said a check showed the judge was correct in saying the high school transcripts of two cage stars had been altered to make them eligible for C.C.N.Y.

Later, Lester Nichols, assistant to the president at C.C.N.Y., said recruitment of athletes by coaches will be abolished a move which he agreed would eliminate the school as a basketball power.

In the meantime, District Attorney Frank Hogan, whose office cracked the many cases of point-rigging in basketball, said his investigation still is going on. He added:

NOT SO INNOCENT

"Our inquiry has been extensive, but we are not so innocent as to think we have or can reach all the offenders."

Judge Streit's indictment of college recruiting practices, in ranging from basketball to football, drew outraged retorts out along the line.

Athletic Director Matty Bell of Southern Methodist showed concern that the judge should claim S.M.U. gives out 154 athletic scholarships a year.

"It isn't any of the judge's business in the first place," he said. "In the second place, these scholarships cover all sports, not just football. Athletics are giving boys an education."

Similar comments came from officials at Oklahoma, Tennessee, Maryland and others among the score of schools mentioned specifically by the judge.

Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State, another of the schools mentioned, said of Judge Streit's comments:

"No doubt he is worried about the situation, as he should be, of course. I have nothing to say on the matter now, however.

U.S. Net Stars Upset Heavily By Australians

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 20 (AP)—The two players who may play singles for the United States forces in the coming Davis Cup tennis matches were beaten in the New South Wales tournament today in a pair of quarter-final upsets.

Big Dick Savitt, the Wimbledon and Australian champion, was stopped by Mervyn Rose, left-handed Australian internationalist, 3-6, 6-1, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4. Tony Trabert was spilled by Vic Seixas, 6-2, 6-3, 7-5.

In the other quarter-final Frank Sedgman, rated Australia's No. 1 player, defeated Sven Davidsson of Sweden, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

Sweden and the United States play in the Davis Cup inter-zone final December 13 to 15, with the winner challenging Australia, December 26 to 28.

Remember When..

The late Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, limited N.H.L. games to 60 minutes, 10 years ago today. The no-overtime rule was introduced to meet wartime conditions, enabling teams to catch trains, and has since remained in force with the result a large number of tie games have already been played this season.

Ex-Commandant Dies in England

LEE-ON-THE-SOLENT, Hampshire, England, Nov. 20 (AP)—Major-General Sir Robert Arundel Kerr Montgomery, 89, former commandant of the Royal Artillery, died last night.

Paintings Admired at New Centre

Two art lovers, also amateur artists themselves, attended the opening day of the new Art Centre. 42 contemporary Quebec paintings were on view. Miss Hilda Glyde, who has been painting for five years, and Rev. A. E. Weaver, an artist of one year, admire "Promenade au Soleil" by Mimi Parent.

Art Proves Baffling to Uninitiated

By EILEEN LEAROYD

"There's a fruit cake, and there's a knife!" the man said triumphantly.

"I thought it was a cheese," said the woman.

"Ah, well, perhaps a Stilton," said the man.

They were studying "Still Life with Begonia" by Jacques Godefroy De Tonnancour, one of the group of 42 contemporary Quebec paintings on exhibition at the Art Centre on the first day of its opening yesterday.

Presently they moved on with this eavesdropper following, to "La Cathedrale Enguirlandee" by P. Bourduas.

They peered silently at the series of mystifying blobs.

Then the woman said, "The color is beautiful you know, from back here."

"Oh yes," he said, "there is definitely something in it. Very enjoyable indeed."

While many in the group of paintings had meanings perhaps a little difficult for the uninitiated to grasp, there were also several so uncomplicated as to seem simple by comparison.

For instance, "Seated Boy," by W. G. Roberts, reminiscent of Picasso's early style; Stanley Cosgrove's "Trees;" Jori Smith's "Girl in Blue Dress," and Mimi Parent's "Promenade au Soleil," were easily recognizable as a boy, trees, a girl, and a walk in the sun. They were also attractive and expertly executed.

A good crowd attended the first day at the new gallery, and many were heard to admire the new centre as well as the exhibition. The show will run for two weeks from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

In sharp contrast to the Quebec exhibit, was the collection of Old Masters hanging in the entrance hall, as foreign to each other as a chrome chair and a refectory table.

One of the most striking of the Old Master's Show was the portrait of the second Viscountess Churchill painted by Sir Peter Lely. This painting was loaned to the gallery anonymously.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sadkowski own the dramatic painting of the Roman general "Belisarius," by Baron Gerard, also hanging in the hall. Others were on loan from the Hon. Mark Kearley and Mrs. E. J. Parker.

Archbishop Lauds Troops

High praise for the Canadian Army in Korea came yesterday from Most Rev. Maurice L. Roy, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec, here for a brief tour of H.M.C.S. Naden.

Back from a five-week tour of Korea and Japan, Archbishop Roy said he was highly impressed with the conduct of Canadian troops he had seen.

Before returning to Quebec, Archbishop Roy inspected ships at Naden and talked with personnel. As head of the Catholic Church in Canadian services, he assisted at mass at the Naden chapel, and visited Royal Roads later in the day.

Major Visits Trouble Zone

Reports of Egyptian disorders are somewhat exaggerated, says Major William Merston, 1159 Beach Drive, who has just returned from a visit to that country and Europe.

He said while he and his wife were in Cairo, riots broke out in the Suez Canal zone. He made a tour of the city, but could find no outward sign of trouble, he said.

He said the rest of Egypt was apparently unruffled by the Canal zone disturbances.

Kiwanians See Interesting Film

"I could see that picture 20 times, and find every showing interesting," remarked a Kiwanis Club member yesterday after seeing the film "Dust and Destiny" at the service club's luncheon meeting.

Every member present had a similar comment to offer.

The full-length color production was prepared by the Moody Institute of Science, and featured spectacular photography of human and other life.

Mice Pretty Dumb, Firm Trying to Prove

A big island logging company is trying to prove that birds are smarter than mice.

The H. R. MacMillan company thinks mice are pretty dumb because they'll eat poisoned oats. Birds, they say, won't.

The reason birds apparently shun the deadly grain is because it's dyed green, and birds like their food to look ripe. Mice aren't so fussy!

This theory hasn't been definitely proved yet. It's still in the experimental stage.

The experiments are part of a company attempt to reseed logged-over forest land from the air.

For years attempts at air-seeding have been foiled by hungry forest mice, which look on airborne fir seeds as manna from heaven.

Scattering poisoned grain over the ground before the seeds are dropped kills off the free-loading mice, but it can also decimate the predatory and game bird population.

Grouse ducks and other birds eat poisoned grain. [illegible] ators get the poison by eating dead mice and other birds.

Coloring the grain seems to solve the problem. Birds shun the green oats.

Game department officials apparently are satisfied with the scheme. They inspected a tract sown with green oats and found no dead birds.

City Referendums Ruled Out On Margarine, Sunday Sport

Mystery Doctor's Letter to Agents Indicates Plan for Trip to England

Recent discovery that the Canadian Navy's Dr. Cyr was not the person he claimed to be has undoubtedly disrupted the man's future plans.

The mystery surgeon who had served in the destroyer Cayuga in Korea as Surgeon Lieut. Joseph C. Cyr is actually Ft. Edmund Wade Demara Jr. 29 formerly of Lawrence, Mass.

What were his immediate future plans?

A possible answer to this question is found in a letter sent from the warship to a west coast travel agency early in September.

In his letter to George Paulin Ltd., [illegible] agency, the surgeon asked for information on rail and steamship travel to London. The trip would be made, some time in June, 1952, he said.

The officer also sought information about passport requirements and regulations governing Canadians who desire to take up permanent residence in the United Kingdom.

To his letter, he added this postscript: "I am also interested in the cheapest possible steamship passage rates — on freight-carrying vessels. Please quote both one-way and round-trip fares."

The letter is signed "Joseph C. Cyr, M.D., Surgeon-Lieutenant, R.C.N." A signature is affixed.

PROBE CONCLUDED

Demara was flown back to Esquimalt to appear before a naval board of inquiry. The investigation into his identity concluded last week. In an official statement issued from Naval Headquarters in Ottawa, in which the man's true identity was announced, it is reported he would be discharged from the service in due course for misconduct.

Named fraudulent entry, Demara is held at the naval hospital at H.M.C.S. Naden.

At Lacey, Wash., St. Martin's College officials reported yesterday that Demara was on the college faculty in 1947.

Demara's father was quoted as saying that he knew of no previous medical experience by his son except as an orderly in a Boston eye and ear infirmary.

A St. Martin's spokesman said Demara served for about two months under the name of Dr. Robert Linton French and posed as a Stanford University graduate and well-known psychiatrist. The spokesman said his brief St. Martin's career ended after suspicions led to an investigation and disclosure of the double identity.

The spokesman said he was immensely popular with students.

"The man has a wonderful personality," he said. "All the students were going to be psychologists."

Yule Hampers Will Be Sent To City Needy

The Victoria Community Welfare Council's Christmas bureau is again ready to snap hampers to those who need them.

Organized in 1945, the bureau eliminated the situation where some needy families received several Christmas hampers while others had none.

This was accomplished by checking service club and other organizations sending hampers of those who needed help. Christmas here, to the bureau which took over the task of sending the right hamper to the right destination at the right time.

Good used toys, books and other articles are donated by individuals and department stores. Necessary repairs are carried out by the Fairfield Rover scouts.

Any groups planning distribution of Christmas funds are asked to communicate with the Christmas bureau, 1951 Cook Street, telephone Beacon 5121.

Paving This Year Totals 220 Miles

Europe Was Tougher Korea Veteran Says

NANAIMO, Nov. 20 — Every country and some [illegible] fighting but not as tough as Europe, is the opinion of a Nanaimo man of the Korean campaign.

Captain Jack Campbell, P.P.C.L.I., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Marjorie Campbell, and his sister, Mrs. D. McLeod in Nanaimo. He was with the advance party of the Patricias in Korea. Canadians, said Capt. Campbell, are well fed and cared for in Korea.

Economics May Force Delivery Cut

Economics of skip-a-day milk deliveries may force action before one according to reports received by pasteurized milk distributors of Victoria.

Distributors add that they are [illegible] years [illegible] of the proposal before announcing a decision.

The [illegible] reports were received yesterday from W. [illegible] executive secretary of the National Dairy Council at Ottawa.

He reported that the skip-a-day delivery of milk has not yet been adopted anywhere in Canada.

"Economics of the situation now confronting the industry in most markets will precipitate action in the not-too-distant future despite current objections by certain sections of the public," Mr. St. John reported.

The Milk Industry Foundation reports that in the United States skip-a-day delivery is used in 212 cities in 11 different states. Three deliveries a week are made in 57 cities, and six-day delivery is in effect in 18 cities and four weekly deliveries in 13 cities, distributors said.

The foundation reported three deliveries a week gaining considerable favor, being used in 113 cities in 31 states.

"Its advantages eliminate all Sunday deliveries and the customers receive their milk on either Monday, Wednesday and Friday or Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday," the report added.

A New York state temporary commission said that in the city of Buffalo, resumption of daily delivery service would probably increase milk costs again, Mr. St. John added.

Distributors said they had not reached a decision on any proposal for skip-a-day delivery.

Any application for staggered delivery days would require approval of the Provincial Milk Board.

Norway and Newfoundland have long been the world's chief exporters of cod liver oil.

Injured Seagull Harbored by S.P.C.A.

This young seagull has a badly injured wing. The bird can not fly and S.P.C.A. officials believe it was shot by some thoughtless and cruel person armed with a .22. Injured gull was found on Black Ball Ferry Line docks yesterday and placed in care of S.P.C.A. "We have been getting about five or six injured gulls a week for the past month or more," one official stated. Injuring or molesting of seagulls is contrary to law and anyone caught harming the birds is liable to severe penalty.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Texada May Become Hub Of Ore Export to Japan

Texada Island may become the centre of a coast-mining development for iron ore shipments to Japan.

Stanley Brewer, assistant professor of transportation at the University of Washington, writes in the Marine Digest [illegible] that the operation's prospects [illegible] he sees [illegible] Texada Island.

[illegible] Japan's steel [illegible] plants are [illegible] Texada, on [illegible] coast of [illegible] Columbia, [illegible] largest exporter of basic [illegible] the plants being used by [illegible] Japanese industries.

Mr. Brewer says light-ripped Takashima, who is president of Japan Making Additional Arrangements, is also reported to be behind the developments in Texada Island.

[illegible] operation probably will be a major one [illegible] Vancouver Island with [illegible] of [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WAS UPSET, CONSTIPATED BUT NOW FEELING FINE!

"I was constipated for several months. Then I started to take ALL-BRAN regularly every day. Result: not more constipation—I feel fine now!" says André Beaucheane, 1449 Rue Galt, Côte St. Paul, Montreal. Yes, another unsolicited letter from a satisfied ALL-BRAN user.

If you, too, suffer from constipation due to lack of dietary bulk, eat an ounce (about ⅓ cup) of crisp delicious Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily, and drink plenty of water! If not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont. GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Order Ensures Saanich Girl's Schooling

A young Saanich girl looks forward to a free university education, thanks to the decision of a fraternal order to help the children of member servicemen killed in action.

Dorrine Paine, 11, of 709 Daffodil Avenue, has had all her doctor bills, educational expenses paid by the Fraternal Order of Eagles' Memorial Foundation since its inception in 1945.

Dorrine's father was killed in action in Italy during the Second World War.

Subject of a Coronet magazine article this month, the Foundation gives practical aid to 1,302 children of dead U.S. and Canadian servicemen and is being broadened to take in dependents of men lost in Korean action.

George Goodenough, secretary of the Eagles' Victoria Aerie, is in charge of the funds for the Canadian section of the Foundation.

He says that only eight Canadian children are now on the Foundation lists, but that he expects this number to grow as the Korean campaign continues.

Although Dorrine's mother has since re-married, the Foundation's funds will continue to assist her through life.

A Nanaimo youth is the only other person on Vancouver Island being helped at present through the Foundation.

Cubs to Attend First Of R.C.N. Film Series

A series of weekly movies will start Sunday afternoon at headquarters of H.M.C.S. Malahat, Victoria's reserve naval division. The building used is the former Moresby House, on Esquimalt Road.

A group of cubs will attend the first film program, which starts at 2 p.m., and lasts about two hours. C.P.O. Walter Burch, in charge of the series, reports different groups of youths will be invited to each Sunday afternoon program.

Films will be drawn from the Royal Canadian Navy's film library at H.M.C.S. Naden, and other sources.

The shows will be open to members of the reserve division and their families.

Through the years I have built Canada's great retail institutions by carrying into the home (quickly! dramatically! economically!) the story of their wares!

I have been created by paste-pot, scissors, pencil, manipulators. I have been designed by trained hands with my type set to accurate specifications and have seen people look at me with admiring eyes. Whole families approve buying what I stress. I'm the most direct route between retailer and customer.

The bidding:

North made a good bid when he raised spades. Most players, holding only Q-4 support, would decline to give this raise, but North correctly appraised his holding as being substantially in excess of what South could normally expect and so made the only call which could be construed like while also being relatively safe.

West opened the heart six. East won and continued the suit, with South ruffing the third round. South led low to the spade queen and back to the spade ace; he could scarcely guess the situation in trumps.

When it became apparent that South was in danger of losing a trump trick in addition to two hearts and one club, it was also obvious that only a trump coup against East could salvage the contract. This coup could be brought off only if East's distribution was favorable, and South would also have to engage in some guessing. However, South read the situation perfectly.

He laid down the club king. East won and, as South hoped, returned another heart. South ruffed and finessed up to dummy's ten of diamonds. When that card held, and when he was next able to cash the diamond ace, he was on the home stretch. He led the queen and jack of clubs and East could either ruff or discard as he chose in the first event. South would overruff, draw East's last trump and cash the diamond king; in the second event, South would discard the diamond king on dummy's club and coup East on the succeeding lead.

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1951

Today's quotation: "Timely service, like timely gifts, is doubled in value."—George MacDonald.

Wednesday, for everyone, late morning comprises the best portion of this day. Get away to a prompt start. Later, attend to routine. Evenings are those who are ill or shut-in.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Keep your poise by being ready for undercurrents in your dealings and contacts today.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Take care to adhere to your diet; find mental and physical poise if you're "under the weather."

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Play safe, harness the urge to chance-taking and keep it within safe bounds.

Minnie Gets Remand to Call In Witnesses

Edward James Minnie, 22, 816 Mason, denied breaking into Jacks Auto Radio, 773 Pandora, in company with two self-confessed burglars on Nov. 9, when he appeared in city police court yesterday.

He pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking into the radio store and stealing seven car radios.

Minnie admitted in the witness box under questioning by prosecutor James Proudfoot that he had arranged the sale of one of the radios to Sardul Singh.

Eric A. Robb, 31 South Turner, and Douglas S. Turner, 1325 Lang, earlier pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and theft from the radio store.

They both gave evidence at Minnie's trial.

Turner said that on the evening of Nov. 9 he went with Minnie and Robb and broke into the store.

"We broke into the place. Three of us pushed the door in. We entered the premises and stole the radios," he said.

Turner said his car was used to carry the radios. He said the next day he met Minnie about 10 a.m. at the Topper Cafe on Yates Street where arrangements were made to dispose of a radio to Sardul Singh.

The East Indian gave evidence that he was suspicious the radio might be stolen and demanded a receipt which Minnie signed.

Minnie questioned Turner in the witness box:

"Isn't there one time since your arrest that you denied I was with you?"

"Yes," answered Turner, "but I changed that."

Prosecutor Proudfoot asked Minnie if it were true he had been charged before for breaking and entering.

"Yes," answered Minnie.

Robb took the stand and admitted breaking into the store with Turner, but no one else.

He said, "Minnie wasn't with us."

"I haven't seen the radios since," he said.

Minnie requested the trial be adjourned to today to allow him to call two witnesses to prove his whereabouts on the night of the break-in.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said he would remand it to today at 10 a.m.

Arrests in the case were made by detectives Norman Bath and Louis Callan following a lengthy investigation.

Colwood Man Fined $200; Loses License

Ernest Thomas Martha, Ocean Boulevard, Colwood, was fined $200 for driving while his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol, when he appeared in city police court yesterday.

Magistrate H. C. Hall also suspended his driver's license for one year.

D. Coxborough, 1677 Hollywood Crescent, was fined $40 for dangerous driving and $35 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. He pleaded guilty to both charges through counsel Lloyd McKenzie.

James W. Cameron, 450 Dufferin, was fined $10 for making an unnecessary noise with his car horn on Yates Street and Russell M. Herbert, 863 Caledonia, was fined $35 for careless driving.

Trucks to Go Underground

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20 (CP)—For the first time in Canadian history a British Columbia base metal mine will use trucks instead of the usual underground railway to bring ore to the surface.

C. W. Clark, secretary of the Canadian Exploration, Ltd., a placer development firm mining lead and zinc at Salmo, B.C., 250 miles east of here, has announced the new method.

The trucks will be driven right into the mine, loaded with ore by loading machines, then driven back to the mine entrance where the ore will be unloaded for transportation to the mill.

The method is expected to save operating costs by dispensing with the trains and trackage used in underground railways.

The system is already being used for mining potash in the western United States.
